

Increase in Price Felt Within Week

By KEN JOHNSON

A surprise price increase of one or possibly two cents a package of cigarettes announced by at least two manufacturers was confirmed Monday by local wholesalers.

First indication wholesalers had was in the mail Monday morning, although one wholesaler manager said he thought a manufacturing company president had hinted at an increase several months ago. (See also Page 7.)

Reports were that Imperial Tobacco Co. and Peter Jackson had notified wholesalers of an increase of 40 cents a 1,000.

A one-cent increase to customers — making a regular package cost 39 cents and a large, 49 cents — has been suggested by manufacturers.

Retailers and some wholesalers said current stocks may last one or two weeks.

At E. A. Morris Ltd., a spokesman said about five manufacturers had notified of an increase effective Monday. But he refused to disclose rates of increase.

NO INDICATION

On the retail side, a dealer at Bill's Spot, 633 Johnson, said: "We have had no indication of an increase yet. We're waiting for word from the wholesalers."

H. W. Latour, manager of Horseshoe News, 1231 Government said: "There has to be an increase."

He said prices might reach between 40 and 50 cents.

Later Monday, Imperial Tobacco in Montreal confirmed the increase, but said the price to wholesalers was up about 70 cents per 1,000.

Rothman's in Toronto said it had gone along with the move.

Other cigarette makers, Benson and Hedges, Macdonald, and Houde and Grothe had not confirmed they would follow suit.

But a big Montreal distributor who did not want to be named, said: "We were informed of the increase today."

Macdonald, he said, had not decided.

"The effect on us is that our costs will rise eight or nine cents a carton," he said. He predicted that the price rise will affect the smoker in about a week.

"Retailers have stocks on hand and will continue selling to known customers at the old price," he said.

A spokesman for Imperial Tobacco, which holds 50 per cent of the Canadian market said it was the first price rise since 1957 to the smoker.

At that time, he said, a federal tax accounted for the rise.

He said from 1963 to 1964 a pack of 20 had risen four cents — of which 2.3 cents went to the federal government.

The increase to the wholesaler had been looming for about three years because of cost increases running to about 10 per cent in labor, leaf and manufacturing.

The increase is not expected to affect cigar and pipe smokers.

reconstructing and paving is estimated at $153,000,000.

About the same amount would be spent by B.C. on completion of the Stewart-Cassiar Highway and the Haines cut-off, both part of the Alaska Highway system. The final 300 miles from the border to Fairbanks, Alaska, is already paved.

The premier also told reporters the Pacific Great Eastern Railway would be extended to the two northern territories if they united with B.C., but made no reference to this in his conference address.

Because this has not been done, they say morale has been affected.

The mood of the armed forces appears to be not one of opposition to integration but rather one of uncertainty and "show me that it works."

Persons who have been assigned new jobs on the integrated staff appear enthusiastic about them and are prepared to buckle down to help solve the attendant problems.

STILL IN DARK

But there are many others who have not yet been told — integration went into effect officially Aug. 1 — what job they will go to or even whether there will be a job for them.

As a result, some of the best officers the defence department wanted to retain have retired voluntarily.

Service men being compulsorily retired receive a pension and a cash bonus, the amount depending on rank and length of service.

But the federal cabinet's treasury board is reported objecting to some of these payments in cases where the servicemen are scheduled to retire in a few years anyway.

This is resulting in a trend away from integration: Keeping a man in uniform until he reaches retirement age though there may be no specific job for him.

Barriers His Target

He said popes as possessors of full power over the church have the duty of heading the episcopate.

The council session of St. Peter's Basilica got under way with a mass of celebration — a rarity that symbolized shared authority.

PROMISE ISSUED

The Pope participated in this ceremony with 24 bishops, all of whom prayed together at the consecration of the host — the heart of the mass — and partook of the same consecrated wafer and wine.

As for Christian unity, Pope Paul issued a promise of his church and an appeal to non-Roman Catholic Christians. He said:

"We shall therefore strive, in loyalty to the unity of Christ's church, to understand better and to welcome all that is genuine and admissible in the different Christian denominations that are distinct from us; and at the same time we beg of them to try to understand the Catholic faith and life better and, when we invite them to enter into the fullness of truth and charity — we beg them not to take it in bad part, but as being prompted by respect and brotherly love."

This third meeting opened under a hot glare of television arc lights and in the heat James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles collapsed.

NEEDS REST

He went by ambulance to a Rome hospital where doctors said the 78-year-old American cardinal showed no heart difficulty and needed a few days of rest and medical testing.

Rev. Oscar Cullman, Protestant theologian of Paris and Basel, also fainted and was treated at the Basilica first aid station. He resumed his place later among more than 60 Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox observers invited to witness the council.

Ceremony Ends Columbia Turbulence

Years of steady negotiations hit an optimistic note late in 1960.

The United States, under the prodding of Gen. A. G. L. McNamara, agreed that Canada was entitled to half the extra power generated by American dams from storage of water in Canada.

Under this proposal, B.C. was to build the storage dams, at Duncan Lake, Mica Creek and High Arrow. The Americans would be permitted to build controversial Libby Dam in northern Montana. Ottawa would loan B.C. enough money to pay for half the construction of the B.C. dams.

Premier Bennett rejected the Ottawa loan proposal. Ottawa rejected his counter-proposal to sell all the Canadian power to the Americans for cash.

Gen. McNamara charged the treaty was a "sellout" to the Americans, saying it gave the Americans effective control of what actually was Canadian water and again negotiations faltered as the Americans dropped hints of "going it alone" or seeking alternate sources of power.

But governments changed and the Ottawa-Victoria stalemate was broken when the federal government agreed to permit B.C. to sell the power to the Americans on a long-term basis.

Negotiations picked up, and last Jan. 22 Mr. Pearson and President Johnson formally signed new documents appended to the treaty.

Under the treaty and protocol, the United States was to hand B.C. an advance lump-sum payment of $274,800,000 for sale of the Canadian power. In addition, B.C. was to get another $70,000,000 for flood control.

In return, B.C. was to build the three storage dams, costing $447,700,000, by 1973.

By taking the advance payment and lending it at upwards of five per cent interest, B.C. plans to parlay it into about $500,000,000 by the time the storage dams are to be ready.

This would provide enough to pay for the Canadian storage dams and about half the cost of installing generators at Mica Creek to produce 1,800,000 kilowatts at about 1.5 mills per kilowatt hour — by far the cheapest new power in North America.

Under the treaty, B.C. must complete Duncan Lake dam in four years, the $130,000,000 High Arrow dam a year later and the $245,000,000 Mica Creek dam by 1973.

The total Columbia development will mean an additional 2,800,000 kilowatts generated from existing U.S. dams and generating capacity, to be installed after 1973, of 1,800,000 kilowatts at Mica Creek for B.C.

Later, perhaps 10 years after completion of Mica Creek, B.C. could generate another 2,000,000 kilowatts by building another series of dams below Mica Creek.

The spokesman said she showed her UN pass, but was told by a Greek-Cypriot policeman that he had orders to search her bag, which contained shorthand notes of the UN commander's reports.

The spokesman said such incidents are interference with freedom of movement of UN personnel and that the UN would protest to the Cyprus government of President Archbishop Makarios.

Home Flies to See Queen, U.K. Voters Get Date Today

LONDON (Reuters) — The date of Britain's general election, generally expected to be held Thursday, Oct. 15, is to be officially announced today by Prime Minister Douglas-Home.

The Conservative party leader flew to Balmoral, Scotland, Monday night to ask Queen Elizabeth to dissolve Parliament to make way for the election.

Douglas-Home's announcement is to be made on his return here this afternoon shortly after his audience with the Queen, who is vacationing at Balmoral.

MASS RALLIES

The election campaign began in earnest Saturday when both the Conservatives and Harold Wilson's opposition Labor party held rival mass rallies in London to outline the main points of their respective programs.

Douglas-Home's Tories, after 13 years in office, are seeking a mandate for a further five-year term under the slogan of "prosperity with a purpose, power for peace."

ELECTION CRITICAL

The Labor party faced with a critical period of internal strain if it fails to win after three successive defeats—is telling the voters its program for a "new Britain" is vital for the nation's future.

During his tour Monday, the Prime Minister told a crowd there would be a general election in three weeks or more, but declined to give the exact date he would pick.

All present indications were that the outcome of the election will be close.

BIG MAJORITY

The Conservatives were returned to power in the last general election in 1959 with a 100-seat majority in the 630-seat House of Commons.

Present state of the parties in the Commons: Conservatives and supporters, 353; Labor, 260; Liberals, 7; Independents, 2; vacant, 8.

Wilson, who spoke Monday at his party will hit Britain's economic home district at Hyton, some situation hard in its campaign, stressed again that

$1,410,000 Won In Sweepstakes

SALEM, N.H. (AP) — The New Hampshire sweepstakes, in its debut as the only state-sponsored sweepstakes in the United States, passed out nearly $1,410,000 in prizes to ticket-holders Saturday and among the winners were six persons who picked up $100,000 each.

The top money went to persons who drew tickets on the favorite, Roman Brother, who outdistanced a field of 11 thoroughbred horses in the $125,000-added handicap at Rockingham Park.

Knightly Manner ran second and the six persons with tickets on him collected $50,000 each.

66 WINNERS

Coming in third was Purser, who paid off $25,000 to each of the six persons holding tickets on him.

In all, 66 persons had prize-winning tickets on the horses. The 48 with tickets on the also-rans picked up $7,500 each.

Governor John W. King and other state officials hailed the sweepstakes as a "bold venture in voluntary taxation" that will bring in millions of dollars in new revenue for New Hampshire.

TICKETS SOLD FOR $3

The New Hampshire program was enacted by the 1963 legislature and signed into law by King. From the sale of $3 tickets in 49 state liquor stores and three race tracks, the state realized gross revenues of more than $3,700,000 over a five-month period.

Barrier to Trade

THE WORLD'S financiers have for long realized that the unequal distribution of gold and existing credit facilities are insufficient to achieve the settlement of international trade to a degree that most people consider to be reasonable.

The International Monetary Fund, which met recently in Tokyo, is wrestling the subject, and opinion seems to have taken shape that increased quotas, or credit facilities, for international trading with the "have not" countries is necessary.

Walter Gordon, who represented Canada as finance minister, takes the view that the IMF ought no longer to rely on a continuation of recent supplies of gold or of U.S. and British deficits to improve the availability of funds for international trading.

U.S. Secretary of the Treasury C. Douglas Dillon agrees that the IMF requires new reserves to supplement existing funds, but that any supplement to these would merely flow into the European Common Market which does not require them.

The U.S. suggestion, backed by Britain, is that credit quotas should be increased by 25 per cent, with special consideration being given individual national needs.

Mr. Gordon, while accepting the principle, says the 25 per cent increase is nothing like enough, and would not create new international trade but would merely help to sort out the existing gap between world trade and payments.

Japan and India are backing the Canadian stand, while the ECM countries generally are opposed to any loan contributions on their parts. This is a real snag because the ECM currencies are stronger than they have been in the past, and are being more widely used for international trade settlements.

The IMF has gone good work in the past in melding opposing thoughts on international financing, and it is calling another meeting shortly in the hope it will achieve an understanding on the widening of credit facilities to trading nations which require them.

Travel Trouble

A HOLIDAY PROBLEM that fortunately does not exist at present on such worrisome scale in this part of the world became as usual a "burning theme" through the summer in West Germany, according to the Deutsche Korrespondenz information service.

If all German schoolchildren were to begin their vacation at the same time, Deutsche Korrespondenz says, the result would be chaos. So the holidays, which usually last six weeks, are staggered; they begin at various dates, state by state, throughout July.

Even so, at the end of last July families from North Rhine Westphalia, the most populous state, were on the move starting their vacations, overtaxing roads, railways, restaurants, hotels and camping places, at the same time as North Germans were homeward bound in large numbers from the holidays that for them had begun a month earlier, making the situation that much worse.

The tourist industry and the traffic authorities were not and are not happy. They would like to see the holidays spread out still more, beginning as early as June 1 and ending as late as September 30. This idea, however, doesn't appeal to teachers, pupils or parents, because of the uncertainty of June and September weather. There is argument enough now about which state should take its holidays first or last.

Perhaps the day is far off when North America, the west especially, will be so densely peopled as to present a problem of similar magnitude. But on the other hand, there is food for thought here among those who would like to see the children's summer holidays much shortened to make fuller use of the schools and get a better return on the tax dollar. Were the vacation reduced to six weeks, the greater concentration of travel is not hard to imagine.

Good for a Laugh

AN ENTERPRISING American humorist visited Europe last week in an attempt to gain support for his idea of initiating a series of World Humor Congresses "to get rid of international tensions."

It is reported that he has already written to Mr. R. A. Butler and President de Gaulle to explain his objective and to ask for their backing. But, so far, he has received no replies.

One well-known British columnist says that he is not at all surprised that the American humorist's idea has fallen on barren ground in Britain and France. He points out that the humorist's recipe for health and humor is to look at himself in the mirror first thing in the morning and collapse with laughter at what he sees.

He writes: "... I can hardly imagine Mr. Butler or President de Gaulle subscribing to this formula. If I were Mr. Butler looking in the mirror I would automatically feel depressed by the hangdog expression that confronted me.

"And," he adds, "if I were President de Gaulle, I would spring solemnly to attention and salute."

Just how Canadian politicians would react to the humorist's suggestion, however, is anybody's guess. After all, Ottawa's a pretty funny place these days.

Faulty Lights

ONE OF THE MOST impressive statistics produced by two weeks of testing Greater Victoria cars on a voluntary basis concerned headlights. Of 1,283 vehicles checked by the mobile unit of the Motor Vehicles Branch, 719 fell short of passing marks, and of these 456 had faulty lights, by far the most frequent failing. More than 37 per cent of the cars examined, to express it another way, were defective in this respect.

The figure is disturbing enough, but it is logical to believe that if cars were chosen at random from the streets for a compulsory test the picture would be considerably worse. Drivers who knew their automobiles to be in poor shape presumably stayed away from the examination in multitudes.

This suggests that an intensified police effort to improve the situation would be in order, especially now that the early darkness and wet of fall is not far off. But the results of the testing also suggest that many conscientious drivers are simply unaware that their headlights are not up to par.

It is a simple matter to have them checked, and, the findings of the mobile unit should convince most motorists, a decidedly worthwhile undertaking.

FAMOUS LETTERS IN CANADIAN HISTORY—NO. 3

La Salle's Sale

For La Salle, exploration was an obsession he would pay any price to satisfy.

First he sold his seigniority to finance one expedition and he later gave his life during another.

René Robert Cavelier de La Salle was destined for the religious life when he first came to Canada in 1667 and obtained land at Lachine which he named, thinking it was on the route to China through an inland sea.

He supervised construction of Fort Frontenac, which is now Kingston, and then set out in search for the mouth of the Mississippi which he found in 1682.

This document which is written in archaic, legal terms is for the sale of La Salle's seigniority to the Seminary of Saint-Sulpice and is one of the few to bear his signature and the original of it is in the Public Archives of Canada.

La Salle's Deed of Sale to Sulpicians

Deed of Sale by Cavelier de La Salle to the Seminary of Saint-Sulpice, of his Seigniority of Saint-Sulpice, later known as Lachine, January 9, 1689.

Before Benigne Basel, Notary and Tabellion of the land and domain of the Island of Montreal in New France, and undersigned witnesses, was present the Sieur René de La Salle, there domiciled, who has acknowledged and admitted having ceded, transferred and relinquished, wholly and for ever, without any warranty other than his deeds and promises, to Messieurs of the Seminary of Saint-Sulpice, established in the Faubourg Saint Germain des Pres near Paris, Lord proprietors of said Island, being here present and accepting on their behalf, the Reverend Father in God, Monsieur Gabriel de Queribus, Priest Abbot of Our Lady of Lodi, Superior of Messieurs of the Ecclesiastical established in said Island, one of the Senior members of said Sieur de La Salle, and by them sent to administer said Island, the domain called Saint-Sulpice, located in said Island above the falls of Saint-Louis, with all the Rights, Rents, Duties and Privileges whatsoever thereto pertaining, which said Sieur Vendor has, may have and obtain in said Island, with the Reservation, which he makes, of a portion of seven Arpents of Land in width by sixty in depth, for his domain at the place where he has already caused to be made certain clearings of land and buildings, starting from the bank of the great stream and river of Saint-Lawrence, and proceeding North to the interior of the Island, adjoining on one side the property of Nicolas Moyseau called the Parisian and on the other that of Pierre Perronnet, together with the lands which will be enclosed between the homesteads of Raymond Bousmeau called La Chausse, and of Pierre Gauthier, called Sagouinogars; and of the enjoyment, during the present year and the next only, of fifty Arpents of land in the meadows and ponds called Saint Pierre, of which lands no reservation.

Has been promised to said Sieur Vendor, as an extra inducement, the half of a fatted pig, which shall be delivered to him by said Sieur Gallier, Approved Vendor between lines and one word cancelled.—R. DE LA SALLE

Parliament's Dominant Figure

By RICHARD JACKSON, Columnist Ottawa Bureau

SAY what you will about that old warrior, Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker . . . Call him rock-hard and a mule-stubborn . . . See him as a tempest-tossed veritable thunderhead of a man . . .

Charge him with filibustering Parliament's weary weeks away . . . or believe, as so many do, that in rallying around the Red Ensign, he was fighting a gallant battle to preserve the "British Fact" in a Commons where, with the government so dependent on the support of Quebec MP votes, the "French Fact" often seems overwhelming.

But, gallant fighter or filibusterer, you must admit this: no other man, or even combination of men and this includes the prime minister and the Pearson cabinet—so completely dominates this House of Commons and even this Parliament.

Even Douglas Fisher of Port Arthur, who, as deputy New Democratic leader is a hotly-competitive House of Commons

It was nearly 18 months ago that the Diefenbaker Conservatives were narrowly nudged from power, but many in the Commons—including External Affairs Minister Martin and even Prime Minister Pearson—still sometimes slip and call him PM.

In a not-altogether-successful effort to stop this embarrassing slips-of-the-tongue, the cabinet has taken to addressing him, with infinite care, as "the right honorable gentleman," but still, all too frequently, to their everlasting mortification, it comes out "prime minister."

What's the secret? Why does Diefenbaker so dominate?

Maybe it's because more than with any other senior member of the Commons—except Paul Martin—Parliament not only is his way of life, it is his life.

And not so strangely, it is only Mr. Martin who can come anywhere remotely near to matching political wit with him in the lightning fast and often brutal verbal bludgeoning on the floor of the Commons, especially in the daily question period when, for all practical parliamentary purposes, just about anything goes.

The two men, John Diefenbaker and Oom Paul, have that deep parliamentary background, each of them casting shadows back in the yesteryears of the Commons to the days of Mackenzie King.

Then Diefenbaker has this going for him, too . . . not only is Parliament his whole and only life, but he relishes living every lively minute of it.

This remarkable man has fun. Politics is his life and his hobby, and he is one of the lucky ones blessed with the rare good fortune of being paid for living and following it.

Like the other day when he talked that eminent merchant of mayhem, Whipper Billy Watson, of wrestling fame into trying for a fall or two in the political arena.

The Whipper came to Parliament Hill, and Diefenbaker at once made him feel comfortably at home by taking him on in a bout of "Indian wrestling" or sit-down wrist-twisting.

Of course, the Whipper didn't have much trouble pinning Dief's arm to the desk, but he had the diplomatic grace to say it wasn't easy.

"It's his wrists," reported Mr. Watson. "He's got fishermen's wrists, lots of strength and snap in them."

Why the Whipper had come to call on Parliament Hill, of all abjectly unlikely places, was not immediately clear.

"We just yarned around," reported Mr. Diefenbaker of the visit, "you know, told a few stories."

It wasn't until Mr. Watson got back to Toronto that the wrestler's call on the Conservative leader was explained.

Whipper, it turned out, aspires to become Mr. William Watson, MP for East York, a Metro constituency held from 1935 through '58 by R. H. "Silent Bob" McGregor, the MP who made his parliamentary name by speaking only three times in all his 23 years in the Commons, and captured for the Liberals in the '62 election by Stephen Otto.

"The Whipper," beams Dief, "should be a good counter-attraction to the Grits' Red Kelly."

And wouldn't he just!

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

A corps of almost 400 volunteers—the first Canadian contingent to take part in an Imperial war overseas—left Canada 80 years ago today—in 1884—to aid in the relief of Khartoum in Sudan. British General Charles George Gordon had been ordered to evacuate Egyptian garrisons besieged by the rebellious Mahdist Dervishes, but his forces, in turn, had been pinned down in the African city.

1935—The Nazi government decreed that Jews were to be deprived of citizenship.

1939—Major-General Georges P. Vanier was sworn in as Canada's 18th governor-general.

First World War: Fifty years ago today, in 1914, the French reoccupied Rheims with the German armies making stubborn resistance in an effort to maintain their line on the Aisne River, reached in the initial invasion of France. The Russians encircled the Austrians in an angle of the Polish Rivers Vistula and San.

Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today, in 1939, Russia and Japan agreed on an armistice in Manchoukou Outer Mongolia territorial claims dispute. It was seen as a possible forerunner of a non-aggression pact. The German high command reported "annihilation" of Polish forces at Radom.

Grab the Joke Book

BACK from the hole. Back to work. Back once more amid the encircling gloom.

Now I'll have to start worrying again. Worrying about you. Worrying about Saigon. Worrying about the election. Worrying about Makarios, and especially worrying about what to worry about.

Good worriers are happy only when they are worrying about worrying.

We usually begin the day with a mental heart attack of pure anguish when we wake up and discover that there's nothing much to worry about.

Last week I met an old lady of 87, which means that she has lived through six reigns and has suffered in her early life the terrible privation of being without motorcars, the telly, airplanes, telephones, bingo and the Beatles.

She was so fearful that I first suspected her of being a life-long worrier, with inexhaustible reserves of anxiety.

But no. She was just happy. When people wake up in the morning feeling like an endless sea of grey porridge lightly sprinkled with granite chips, they sometimes reach for aspirins or half a bottle of champagne.

Not so my lively female old party. She starts the day with her Joke Book.

I have been able to see these carefully written notebooks, which she has been compiling in her own handwriting since 1952. They are packed with jollies and aphorisms.

Admittedly they would not have them rolling in the aisles at the Aldwych Theatre. But they have that indefatigable quality that endures the years and comes out fighting every December from Christmas crackers.

You wake up. The gas bill hasn't been paid. There is damp creeping up the wall, and that fool with a transistor next door has got it blasting full bore.

Grab the Joke Book and now we're off.

Sample: "If you put a policeman to bed what are you doing?"

Answer: "Laying down the law!"

Take another dose: let me tell you these riddle-me-rees come very fast and low over the net.

Q. "If you're born on a doorstep, what are you?"

A. "A step-child."

Q. "A mad lad lives on the far of the land. What work does he do?"

A. "A corset manufacturer."

Then, with one bound, we are back from the kitchen stove, and safely tucked up in bed again for another chuckle.

Q. "What is good for water on the brain?"

A. "A tap on the head."

For Venezuela

Bonanza Time

By JOHN CROCKER from Caracas

AS a visitor to Venezuela I see a vibrant young nation going all out to make money. At night you stand in the penthouse of a skyscraper and are dazzled by the lights of hundreds of cars swirling along the four-lane highways.

To my query: "Where are they going in such a hurry?" a Venezuelan replies: "Perhaps we do not really know, but we think it is in the right direction."

The newcomer sees skyscrapers going up by the dozen, to add to the hundreds already here, and more motor-roads being built—270 miles so far this year—and he is proudly told that the oil industry, on which more than 80 per cent of the country's annual budget revenue depends, expanded by three per cent both in crude production and refining in the first six months of 1964.

The picture is one of a country going all-out to maintain and increase the unusually high rate of seven per cent annual over-all economic growth which it has enjoyed for 25 years. It is clear that the serious trade slump which followed the ousting of dictator Perez Jimenez five years ago has been left behind, and that politically the country is enjoying a rare period of stability.

Since December's presidential elections, won handsomely by outgoing President Betancourt's Democratic Action Party nominee, Raul Leoni, the extreme left wing here has almost ceased to be a factor in politics; and, what is perhaps even more significant, the same applies to the extreme right.

Venezuelans, both rich and poor, have been given a chance to understand and appreciate the democratic process of government for the first time. They have learned, thanks almost entirely to Betancourt, that democracy works, and that four-lane super-highways, towering buildings and economic booms are not the sole prerogative of dictatorship.

The events pertaining to the December elections are singularly revealing. The Communists, represented here by two groups, the Communist Party of Venezuela (CPV) and the so-called fellow-travellers (MIR) both went all out, using fair and foul means, to wreck the elections and to ensure that Leoni or any other candidate with democratic leanings, did not win.

Spearheading the rampage was the National Liberation Front (FLN) and its activist wing, the FALN, with both of which the CPV and the MIR were associated, as were also a number of extreme right-wing former army officers who shared the aim to get rid of Betancourt and all he represented. Recalling this period, an executive of the vast United States and British petroleum industry here told me that the Esso pipeline from the Maracaibo oilfields was blown up between 20 and 30 times.

But before the elections the Betancourt government imprisoned many leading Communists and outlawed their parties. Despite this action, which seemed to be a ready-made propaganda platform for the left-wingers, and despite the violence and threats to voters, the Democratic Action Party and the two other major anti-Communist (Christian Democrats and Democratic Republican Union) won a clear victory.

The extremists, both Left and Right, could not recover from this crushing defeat. They had "lost face," which is vitally important in all 11 Latin American countries, and their morale was broken. Particularly significant was a declaration by the leader of the MIR in a statement issued from prison to the Soviet TASS news agency—which is powerfully represented here and publishes a daily propaganda sheet—that he realized the errors of his ways in adopting a policy of violent militarism and would in future advocate for his party the tactics of peaceful coexistence—as preached by Moscow.

Before arriving here I had heard a lot about Venezuela still being a police state, and I soon discovered that the Digosol, like all state security police, can be extremely tough. I was told that I should never go about without my passport on me, as anyone, foreign or Venezuelan, who was found without means of identification would automatically be arrested.

In fact, this happened the other day to a foreign journalist, who was forced to spend several unpleasant hours in jail. "The point is, you see," they told me, "that the police will not accompany you to your apartment so that you can show them your papers, because they are afraid it might be a trap." This seemed understandable in view of the country's history.

Nobody in Caracas seems concerned about the fate of Perez Jimenez, or PJ as they call him, who is in jail after his extradition a few months ago from the U.S. on a charge of embezzlement (under extradition law the authorities were unable to proffer a political charge.) "He will be brought to trial eventually, and probably get five or six years," they say with a shrug.

Compulsory education in Japan consists of six years primary and three years secondary school. Nationwide enrolment is nearly 100 per cent. More than 60 per cent of Japanese students finish high school. There still is a growing shortage of skilled technicians and specialized schools have moved in to fill the gap.

Approximately 8,000 such schools have been established in the last few years. While they are not defined as academic institutions under the school and education law, they are accredited by state and city authorities.

The schools are privately operated. Educational standards, however, are high. As a result graduates are in great demand in industry because of their high degree of technical skill.

One of the best-known private schools is Kogakuni University Senshu School here. This is a night school teaching civil engineering, mechanics, electricity, shipbuilding, metal processing and architecture.

Its current enrolment is 2,000 students. It has a teaching staff of 90 of which 25 are regular faculty members. The remainder are lecturers who work at regular governmental or industrial jobs in the daytime.

The students are required to study English and mathematics in addition to their special courses.

Some students are university graduates and managers of small businesses. Others are salaried employees of large companies. They seek to increase their ability in their respective fields and qualify for higher paying jobs.

Some major industries have established their own training schools. Promising employees are enrolled. The schools are company financed. Workers attend classes during daytime while receiving pay for their regular work. The courses average two years.

The specialized schools are becoming so well-known and accepted by both industry and the general public that the Japanese government is studying means to assist those considered most worthwhile.

Domestic science schools are popular with women. Students at these schools consist almost entirely of young women preparing themselves for marriage. Marriage today is much more complicated than it once was for young Japanese women.

They must cope with new appliances, new ideas and a new concept of being the husband's outside helper as well as his companion at home.

As Japan turns more to foreign trade and cultural exchange, men find it necessary to speak a second language. It helps them socially if their wives also can speak another language.

Over 60 per cent of private school students are between the ages of 15 and 20. However, older people too, finding themselves left behind in the Japanese quest for better jobs and living conditions, have turned to the private schools in increasing numbers.

The trend is one more indication of the typical Japanese drive to excel in all fields.

One for Five for Fischers

ABERDEEN, S.D. — The Fischer quintuplets, dolled up in their Sunday finest, gathered around the family dinner table Monday for a slice of tasty white cake in celebration of their first birthday.

The cake, decorated with the names of Mary Ann, Mary Margaret, Mary Catherine, Mary Magdalene and James Andrew, was donated by a local bakery, in fulfillment of a promise made when the quintuplets were born to Andrew and Mary Ann Fischer.

The party was a quiet family affair.

It wasn't that this prairie city of 23,000 wouldn't have created a lavish party if the Fischers had desired it.

However, Aberdeen, proud of its famous family, also has adopted a protective attitude toward the Fischers and refuses to intrude in the family's private life.

Plans for a big celebration were quietly dropped also because Mrs. Fischer, 31-year-old mother of 10, has a special birthday present for her family—another addition, reported due any time from a few days to two weeks.

He did not elaborate.

VANCOUVER — George Norrie, 79, sportsman and multimillionaire, died Sunday in his sleep. ST. PROSPER, Que.—Daniel Johnson, leader of the Union Nationale, says Sunday Quebec's $100,000,000 loan from British Columbia is the "worst humiliation" ever suffered by the province. The interprovincial loan was "an act of servitude," he went on.

Rothman at New High

TORONTO (CP) — Tobacco stocks scored impressive gains as the stock market advanced on almost all fronts during moderate trading.

Rothman was the pace-setter, gaining three points to 19 1/2. Both Rothman and giant Imperial Tobacco Monday announced a one-cent increase in the price of a package of 20 cigarettes.

Abitibi and Great Lakes eased each to 15 and 26 1/2. Imperial Tobacco added 1/4 to 14 1/2 and Asbestos and Chemcel each to 34 and 15 1/2.

Canada Cement Ltd., Dominion Textile and du Pont Inc. each to 47, 28 1/2 and 54 1/2 respectively.

VANCOUVER — Western Mines rose to 5 1/2, Grandco to 6.35 and Toronto to 7.1, but Silver Standard at 7.2 and Ute at 1.65 were easier. Pipelines

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took its first loss in nine sessions despite strength in steel, motors and copper.

STEELS were heavily traded and higher in view of reports that steel mills are receiving so many orders that they have to refuse some. Meanwhile, weekly steel production scored another gain.

Pack a day—$3.50 a Year

Cigarette Price Goes Up

By HARRY YOUNG Colonist Business Editor
Canadian cigarette manufacturers have raised the price of cigarettes by about one cent a pack to meet what the industry says is a 10 per cent increase in costs.

To the pack-a-day smoker it will mean an added outlay of about $3.50 a year, and to the shareholder of the leading tobacco companies, it promises vastly higher net earnings and perhaps increased dividends.

Rothman of Canada whose business is more than 96 per cent in cigarettes, had cigarette sales of $115,000,000 in the year ended June 30, 1964.

If it maintains this sales level in the current year its income will rise by more than $3,000,000. Last year Rothman net earnings were $2,200,000.

Rothman shares rose from $16 to $19½ following the announcement of the price hike while Imperial Tobacco, which has the largest share of the Canadian tobacco market rose from $13½ to $14½.

BEST SELLER BONDS

Brokers say the best seller of the three bonds issued by the Government of Canada Monday was the five per cent four-year term bond which was offered at par to yield five per cent.

Allotments in the hands of the brokers were quickly taken up.

There was also some support for the shorter term issues—14-month 3½ per cent bonds at $98.85 to yield 4.52 per cent, and three-year 3½ per cent bonds at $97.25 to yield 4.74 per cent.

The government offered $400,000,000 worth of the open end bonds, with the Bank of Canada scheduled to take $100,000,000 worth of them.

Weekend Accidents Take 65 Lives

By CANADIAN PRESS

At least 65 people died violently across Canada during the weekend, 50 of them on the highway.

The rest of the total included two drownings, 11 deaths by fire and two killed in accidents with trains.

Quebec registered 25 traffic fatalities and one by fire. Ontario had 10 traffic deaths and two deaths involving trains.

Seven members of one Nova Scotia family—six children and their father—died when fire destroyed their home at Springhill Junction. Another adult also lost his life in the blaze.

New Brunswick reported five traffic deaths and Newfoundland one traffic death and one drowning. Prince Edward Island was fatality free.

In the west, British Columbia led the count with four highway fatalities and two deaths by fire. Alberta reported four traffic deaths, Saskatchewan one. Manitoba had one drowning.

Japanese Mission Coming Here

A Japanese trade mission, described as "the most important to visit Canada," will be in Victoria Oct. 4 to 10, says the Canada-Japan Trade Council.

The 22-man mission will make an eastward sweep of most of the major cities of Canada, said the private trade organization.

Among the members are to be representatives of the Japanese industrial giants, Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Ltd. and Hitachi and Co.

Red Threat Unchanged—Pearson

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Pearson said Monday there was no reason to believe there has been any basic change in the Communist threat to the West.

The expansionist aims of Communist leaders are still there, Pearson told the opening session of the meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"We have every reason, therefore to continue to co-operate even more closely within NATO in maintaining strong, well-integrated defence forces."

Pearson said there were encouraging signs "that, in the long term, we may be able to establish a more civilized relationship with the Communist world."

82 Van Doos Come Home

QUEREC (CP)—A party of 82 Canadian soldiers of the Royal 22nd Regiment arrived at l'Ancienne Lorette Airport Saturday after a flight from Cyprus where they had spent six months with the United Nations force on the island.

This was the first group of some 1,100 Canadian soldiers to return on rotation from Cyprus. They will be replaced in Cyprus by the First Battalion of the Canadian Guards.

Gun Battle Saves Refugee

BERLIN (AP)—A native of Germany now in the U.S. Army braved East German bullets Sunday to help a wounded refugee escape over the Berlin wall.

Pte. Hans Puhl, 22, was involved in a 40-minute battle at dawn during which West Berlin police and East German Communist guards fired dozens of shots at each other.

Lying in the middle of the fray, on the Communist side of the wall, was Michael Meyer, 21, from the East German town of Frederdorf. He was shot as he tried to scramble over the wall to West Berlin.

East German guards then tried to drag him away, but Puhl—covered by Western police—marched to the wall and ordered the East Germans back.

As Puhl covered Meyer two West Berliners got a step-ladder and wire cutters. Firemen brought a rope and Puhl dropped it to the wounded man.

"We got the rope on him and jailed him across," Puhl said. "He passed out when we got him over."

Five bullets hit Meyer, but he was reported recovering from wounds in the thigh and shoulder.

Big Fanny Honored

VANCOUVER (UPI) — Three hundred Doukhobors crowded a Vancouver funeral chapel Sunday for the first of three services for Freedomite sect.

Boy, 13, Dies In Blaze

SLOCAN CITY (CP) — Michael David Misko, 13, died but a number of other children escaped when fire swept through the home of Charles Adams in this Kootenay community north of Nelson.

spokesman Mrs. Florence (Big Fanny) Storgoff.

The entire three-hour service was held in Russian. The body was removed Monday by hearse to the community hall of the Doukhobors' camp near Agassiz, where another service will be held. The Sunday service was paid for by the B.C. welfare department because Big Fanny was a welfare recipient.

PRISONERS, TOO?

The organizer of the funeral, Alec Rebin, said he will ask prison officials to permit Sons of Freedom Doukhobors in Mountain Prison, 40 miles east of Vancouver, to attend services today near the prison.

Big Fanny died Friday in a Vancouver hospital.

She began creating news in 1962 when the radical Sons of Freedom burned their homes in the Kootenay region of British Columbia and trekked to the coast. After marching on Vancouver they settled near the Agassiz prison where some of their members are detained for acts of violence.

Young Bird Races Now Over

Capital City Racing Pigeon Club has concluded two final races in the young bird series with races run from Kamloops and Lytton during the weekend.

Fast bird in the 210-mile Kamloops race was owned by John Arnaud and turned in a time of five hours 14 minutes and 51 seconds. Next four birds in the Kamloops section were owned by J. and D. Blackstock, Dick Roe, Barney Woolley and Bob Packford. There was only about three minutes difference between the winning and fifth-place times.

In the 180-mile race from Lytton, Dick Roe's loft won with a time of four hours 20 minutes and 14 seconds. Second place went to the George Thomas loft with J. and D. Blackstock third. Time difference between first and third place was 40 seconds.

New Canadian Disease Puzzling Doctors

WATERTON PARK, Alta. (CP) — A disease new to Canada is creating problems of diagnosis for doctors.

Dr. D. G. Cameron of McGill University, speaking here Saturday to the annual convention of the Alberta division of the Canadian Medical Association, estimated that 10 to 25 per cent of the population has been infected with the disease.

Dr. Cameron said there is frequently no evidence of infection until a patient is given a routine X-ray.

The disease, called histoplasmosis, usually affects the lungs and can leave scars similar to those left by tuberculosis.

It is most likely to infect the very young, the very old and those with debilitating diseases. He said a person can have it and be cured without treatment.

Histoplasmosis, believed contracted by breathing infected dust, can remain active in soil for years.

The incidence of histoplasmosis is believed increasing in Canada. Although treatment is seldom necessary, the problem is that it might be mistaken for tuberculosis, and treatment for TB started by mistake.

Black Magic Rites

WATFORD, England (UPI) — Black magic rites apparently were performed over the weekend not far from the Whippendale Woods, where women still hold midnight dances on the "witches sabbath."

John Anstey, a member of the Watford borough council, said he found a white cockerel with its throat cut and a crucifix on its breast Sunday in the fork of a tree in Cassiobury Park, which is about a mile from the Whippendale Woods.

DOG GROWLED

"I was taking my dog, Scamp, for an early morning walk," Anstey said. "He growled up at the tree and I looked up. In a fork about 12 feet up, I saw what I thought was a paper bag."

"I went to move on, but Scamp barked, and I looked again. I saw it was a dead fowl."

Emanuel Bronston, a Jamaican, said, "man, I won't go near that bird. That's a sacrifice for an initiation ceremony. I know all about that, for they practice voodoo in my country."

Bronston explained that white cockerel is used when a novice takes a black magic circle. The blood is used to smear his head, hands and breast.

Threats of More Rain Speed Wheat Harvest

REGINA (CP)—Thousands of combines rolled into wheat fields in southern Saskatchewan Saturday as harvesting of the 1964 crop got under way again after three weeks of cool, wet weather.

In many areas the harvesting operations, delayed by the constant rains since late August, went on around the clock over the weekend.

FINE WEATHER

Farmers in central and northern Saskatchewan, where even more rain fell in the last three weeks, expected to get back on the land by today if the fine weather that started Friday continues.

Provincial Agriculture Minister A. H. McDonald said Monday he hoped farmers who had finished harvesting or who finished before their neighbors would lend a hand to those still working.

EVERY EFFORT

"We must make every possible effort to get this crop under cover while the opportunity is still with us and I would advise those farmers with most of their crop still standing to seek whatever help they can get."

The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool has estimated the current crop will be the fourth largest in the province's history at 357,000,000 bushels.

Turk Cypriots Annoy UN

Supervision Rejected

NICOSIA (UPI)—Turkish Cypriots demanded Monday night that emergency food shipments from Turkey for the Turkish Cypriot community of Kokkina be sent without Greek Cypriot supervision.

They rejected an offer from Greek Cypriot President Makarios which would have allowed Turkish ships, carrying the food to pass through the port of Famagusta, controlled by the Greek Cypriots.

United Nations sources said Makarios had promised to allow a Turkish ship with food and clothing for Kokkina to dock at Famagusta "without delay or undue interference."

RELIEF SHIPS

Turkey offered to send an immediate shipment to the port of Xeros, near Kokkina, a UN spokesman said Monday night, but the UN rejected the offer "in view of the potential difficulties." The "difficulties" were not specified.

(In Istanbul, a communique said Turkish officials agreed to postpone sending relief ships to Turkish Cypriot communities on Cyprus until the UN had specified which Greek Cypriot port they could use. (But a government spokesman said Turkey still was determined to send supplies to the beleaguered Turkish Cypriots, "whatever happens.")

Makarios was quoted as having said he would assume responsibility for providing necessary food to the Kokkina populace pending arrival of Turkish ships.

It was stressed that such arrangements would not result in relaxation of the Greek Cypriot economic blockade in effect against Turkish Cypriots elsewhere on the island.

UN officials were annoyed by the Turkish Cypriot position. The Greek Cypriots have accused the Turkish Cypriots of using the "starvation" issue as a political weapon.

Bathe More, Drink Less Russian People Told

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda complained Sunday that people in the Soviet Union don't take enough baths. Moreover, said the organ of the Soviet Communist party, they drink too much.

In a lead editorial, the newspaper declared the level of personal hygiene in the Soviet Union needs raising.

"In many villages, especially in some union republics, there are no community baths and water supplies are badly set up," it said.

Standard equipment: a bank loan

It has become almost standard practice today for people to go to their bank to finance the purchase of cars and other family items. You, too, may have found it a good idea to borrow where you save — at your local bank. It is often simpler, because the bank already knows you as a savings customer. And it also may save you money because bank loans are low-cost loans. For borrowing and saving, and for any other bank service you may need, just visit your local chartered bank. It's the one place where you can get all your banking done, under one roof.

Spray Fights Gales

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I don't think there is anything more exasperating in a gardener's life than to raise what appears to be a bumper crop of apples or pears on your backyard trees, only to have one of our autumnal gales come ripping in, littering the ground with bruised and battered fruit.

In earlier days, the only protection we could give our fruit crop was to spread a thick layer of clean straw under the trees to cushion the fall.

This is still worthwhile where a good supply of straw is available, although you have to devise some way of anchoring the straw, for the same gale of wind that knocks the apples off your trees can blow away their cushion.

The modern method of preventing premature windfalls, though, is to spray the trees with a hormone chemical that causes the fruit to stick to the branches like grim death.

The larger garden shops and centres stock this spray under such trade names as Stop-Drop, Stalast, Niagara-Stik, Kling-Tite and Fyritone.

Actually, the active principle in all these anti-windfall sprays is the same, the potassium salt of naphthaleneacetic acid, closely allied to the chemical used for rooting cuttings and for setting the blossoms on tomato plants.

For fruit, the spray is best applied about a week before the normal picking time for that particular variety, and the stems of the apples and pears must be wetted thoroughly.

It is no good applying a mist falling like the gentle dew of heaven. The trees must have a real drenching. Incidentally, this will NOT prevent the premature drop of wormy fruit, which will fall freely whether treated with the hormone or not.

When the anti-windfall spray is used, you must be sure to pick the fruit at the normal harvest time, or it may become overripe on the tree.

Some kinds like McIntosh and Winesap may be allowed to stay on until nicely colored, but Delicious goes mealy and soft inside if left on the tree too long.

Actually, though, it isn't a very good idea to hang on to your snaps in the hope of getting another year's bloom out of the plants. Not only do second-year antirrhinums become leggy and woody and somewhat sparse of bloom, but they are very much more susceptible to the disease known as antirrhinum rust than vigorous first-year plants grown from seed.

Quite often these elderly snaps act like a Typhoid Mary, spreading rust disease into gardens all through the neighbourhood; even the so-called rust-resistant varieties can be carriers.

The only really safe place for snaps at the end of the growing season is in the incinerator or on the garden bonfire.

Every summer I get reports from surprised gardeners who tell me their snapdragons, left standing in the garden, came safely through the winter and bloomed for the second year in succession.

This is quite normal, for while we tend to think of the snapdragon as an annual, it is actually a perennial, and surprisingly winter-hardy.

Election Issues Explained by ART BUCHWALD

It's All Very Simple, Really

My Cher Pierre,

Thanks for your letter. I know the French are very confused about the American election campaign and I don't think you should be embarrassed to admit it.

Let me see if I can explain it to you. According to Sen. Goldwater there is a dark cloud hanging over Washington. Sinister forces are at work to turn the republic into a socialistic totalitarian state with the government providing giveaway programs from the cradle to the grave. If President Johnson is elected, the morals of the nation will go to hell. There will be violence in the streets and America will run out of bombers by 1972.

Sen. Goldwater has promised, if he is President, to eliminate the draft, cut taxes, and beef up the armed forces so America will once again have the strength to bring this country safely to the brink. In the meantime, he is advocating the use of conventional nuclear weapons for our NATO allies.

He has come out against impulsive, massive political tax cut gimmickry and is advocating fiscal responsibility.

He also wants our wives and daughters to be able to walk safely down our city streets. He has called President Johnson a faker and a phony, but he's leaving the name-calling to his running-mate, Bill Miller.

According to President Johnson, Sen. Goldwater is trigger happy, and irresponsible. The President has warned that, if the Republican candidate wins, the extremists will take over the government, the morals of the nation will go to hell, and there will be violence in the streets.

The Democrats have accused Goldwater of fiscal ignorance and diplomatic stupidity. They say that if Goldwater wins he will do away with social security, civil rights, and the income tax.

Sen. Goldwater, the Democrats have explained, wants to turn the clock back, and he has simple answers for complex problems. As far as defence is concerned, the United States is stronger than any other nation on earth. Except for indicating Sen. Goldwater is a warmonger, President Johnson is leaving the name-calling to Hubert Humphrey.

That should more or less explain the political picture to you, Pierre. As you can see, it's not very complicated and the "issues" are very well drawn. According to the Republicans, if the Democrats stay in, the country will go Communist. And according to the Democrats, if the Republicans get in, there won't be any country left. So the real choice the Americans have in November is whether they would rather be Red or dead. Your cher ami, FRANCOIS.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Forever Lasts a Week

NEW YORK (NANA)—Bette Davis stars as a 16-year-old girl in Hush, Hush... Sweet Charlotte. And I wish you could have heard Joan Crawford's comments on the subject. According to Joan's chums, the pay-off in the grisly affair happened when director Bob Aldrich told her a week before replacing her with Olivia de Havilland, "Don't worry, Joan darling, we will wait for you forever." Forever in Hollywood is never longer than a week.

Myrna Loy returns to Hollywood where she started her film career in the mid-twenties. But not to make a picture this time—on stage for the Theatre Guild in Barefoot in the Park, as the mother-in-law who has to keep climbing all those stairs.

Shari Lewis, discovered on Arthur Godfrey's talent show, goes the full cycle when she appears next week on Rudy Vallee's talent show on CBS-TV... and Forrest

Tucker has been offered a bundle to bring his night club act to Johannesburg, for a four-day run. He aims to accept following his current Take Her, She's Mine stand at Chicago's Drury Lane Theatre.

Which reminds me: She, starring Ursula Andress, and The Hill, which stars Sean Connery, are having some trouble with the colored members of British Equity—because in She there are no speaking roles for colored actors, and Ossie Davis has been brought over to play a Jamaican soldier in The Hill. They are wondering why Mr. Davis was given a work permit, when there are so many Jamaican actors in Europe.

John Frankenheimer can't tear himself away from the wheel. Having completed The Train with Burt Lancaster, he is now preparing Le Grand Prix, all about the annual French auto race.

CHARLES McDOWELL Suggest Zanzika

Newborn Nation Still Needs Name

Tanganyika and Zanzibar merged last spring to form a country that calls itself, interestingly enough, the United Republic of Tanganyika and Zanzibar.

Now, according to The Insider's Newsletter, the government has announced a contest to select a new name for the country. First prize is five pounds sterling, or about $14.

The first names that spring to mind are, of course, Zanganyika and Tanzibar. Either would preserve something of the splendid euphony of the original names, and either would be short enough to fit fairly gracefully on seals, postage stamps and desk plates at the United Nations.

Serious contestants will realize instinctively, however, that both are too obvious to take the prize. Something like Tanzanbar may be closer to the mark. Or Zanzika may be even closer. Among its merits would be the preservation of a country with two Z's in it.

We know that the two patriots who brought about the merger were Julius K. Nyerere and Abeid Amani Karume, the presidents respectively of Tanganyika and Zanzibar. If anyone can do anything with those names, fine.

It may be that all sorts of good names are available in Swahili, which is the language of Tanganyika and, for all we know, of Zanzibar. The only word of Swahili we know is Mbwana, which, to tell the truth, is Hollywood-Swahili meaning friend, stranger, boss, lion, giraffe, the Land Rover in the ditch, or the bearers have seen a sign in the sky and run away.

Sometimes a geographical feature is the key to a good name. The dominant geographical feature of Tanganyika is Mount Kilimanjaro, and the dominant geographical feature of Zanzibar is the Indian Ocean.

Perhaps it has been obvious all along what kind of name will be chosen in the end. The name will be Seaside Heights, or maybe Mountain View.

Bootlegger Gets Fine Of $325

Rudolph Tarko, of 732 Kings, was fined $325 in city magistrate's court Monday after pleading guilty to illegal sale of liquor.

Police said that a man from the police department purchased a case of beer from Tarko for $4. Later police visited Tarko's house and found 26 persons on the premises and a number of bottles containing wine, beer, gin, rum and rye.

Also appearing in court was Lewis Frank Holder, 440 Bay, who pleaded guilty to impaired driving and was remanded for one week for pre-sentence report.

LONDON (Reuters) — The Daily Herald, once the world's largest selling newspaper, ceased publication Monday although it still had a circulation of 1,200,000.

In its place today will emerge The Sun, first national daily newspaper to be launched in Britain in 30 years.

The Herald, which began life as a printers' strike sheet and became the organ of the British Labor party, closed down with issue No. 15,090.

Although in 1933 The Herald became the first newspaper in the world to gain 2,000,000 readers, its circulation had dropped in recent years.

Last January the paper was reported to be losing more than £900,000 ($2,400,000) a year.

SEOUL (AP) — The death toll due to encephalitis rose to 617 Saturday as 18 more persons died in South Korea. With 48 new cases of sleeping sickness reported, the total number stricken since early August increased to 2,495.

Dieppe Raid Called 'Worthwhile'

LONDON (Reuters) — An official historian's verdict on the controversial Dieppe raid of Aug. 19, 1942, is that it was worthwhile—despite its lack of success and its heavy toll.

The verdict is that of Sir James Butler, who gives his opinion in Volume III of the official History of the Second World War.

Butler, professor emeritus of modern history at Cambridge University, says lessons were learned that were put to good use when the time came for the actual invasion of Nazi-held Europe.

Of the 6,000 troops that took part nearly 5,000 were Canadians. The force landed against much stiffer opposition than had

Thousands Boycott Schools

NEW YORK (UPI) — One-fourth of the 1,000,000 students in the nation's largest school system Monday boycotted opening day classes. School board president James Donovan angrily charged the white parents who organized the boycott may be involved in a conspiracy to wreck public education.

Boycott leaders hailed the first day results of a two-day protest against school board integration plans as a "tremendous success." They vowed to show even more strength today.

Donovan, the Brooklyn lawyer who negotiated the release of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers from behind the Iron Curtain, and the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners from Cuba, said he was asking the district attorneys of the city's five boroughs to see if the boycott leaders have violated any criminal laws.

"This new weapon of child boycott is not only reprehensible, it is at minimum a conspiracy to disrupt the public education and, at maximum, a conspiracy to destroy it," Donovan said.

The boycott was the third here in 1964. The first two were called by Negro leaders who charged the board's integration plan were "too little and too late." Monday's boycott was a white parent protest that the plans were "too much too soon."

The white parents primarily objected to school board plans for sending students to schools outside their immediate neighborhoods by bus to achieve a better racial balance.

The Negro boycotts resulted in 465,000 students staying home last Feb. 3, and some 300,000 absentees on March 13.

Donovan said that if the law does not clearly make school boycotts illegal, he would ask the state legislature to pass a law which does so.

Record $17,458,498 Total For Vancouver Race Season

VANCOUVER (CP) — Exhibition Park closed its doors on its most successful horse racing season Monday night. Appropriately, the conclusion was marked by a track record.

The final day of 86 days brought in $1,122 fans and $288,512 in wagering to run the season total to 560,107 fans and a total betting handle of $17,458,498.

This compares with the 1963 totals, both existing records, of 549,458 fans, and about $16,500,000.

CASTEL GANDOLFO (AP) — Pope Paul has granted a brief special audience to a 61-year-old, one-handed man, who bicycled more than 430 miles to see the pontiff. Pope Paul gave him a special blessing and a small sum of money to get home.

Comet was third. Sprint star Harry Jerome decorated the winner.

Frank Inda was the season's top jockey with 70 wins, three of them on the final day. Jim Dailey was runner-up with 59 wins.

Huculs Boost Future

Fred and Sandy Hucul, two of the best defencemen in minor professional hockey, arrived in Victoria early and somewhat unexpectedly yesterday to brighten considerably the player situation of Victoria Maple Leafs.

It was hoped that both the Huculs would come to Victoria after playing with Denver last season. Sandy, however, was expected to travel west with Toronto Maple Leafs while it was thought Fred would arrive late because of business.

FRED IN CHARGE

Both, however, arrived yesterday and Fred will supervise the first Maple Leaf workout at Memorial Arena today.

Other former Denver players practising with the Huculs will be goalie Al Millar, Milan Marcetta, Larry Keenan, Dick Lamoureux and Bill Shvetz. Also working out will be six rookies: goalies Harvey Larford and Gary Holland, defencemen Ralph Winfield and forward Ikkie Wilcox, Dave Toner and Fred Purvis.

HERE WEDNESDAY

Coach Rudy Pilous will fly into Victoria Wednesday evening, and Lou Jankowski and Steve Witluk, Denver stalwarts last season, will arrive within the week.

Forward Bill Flett who is driving Pilous' car west, will reach Victoria in a few days. Gordie Redahl and John Sleaver are still at the Toronto training camp, although it is expected they will be released to Victoria.

THREE MISSING

Three players, however, have not reported and Victoria manager Buck Houle said yesterday he has received no word of their intentions.

In the doubtful category are rookies Ted Hargreaves and Harvey Schmidt, who may have decided to attend the University of Idaho. Hargreaves, all-star centre and scoring champion in the Saskatchewan junior league last season, was given a good chance of making the Victoria club.

WHERE'S GEORGE?

The other questionable prospect is George McAvoy, who was out of hockey last season, but played two years ago with Calgary Stampede.

It was understood McAvoy would report to Victoria, but no word has been heard from him yet.

Victoria has only three pre-season exhibition games. It plays Boston Bruins at Memorial Arena Thursday, Sept. 24, and is at home to Toronto Maple Leafs Monday, Sept. 28. The other contest is in Nanaimo against Vancouver Canucks Saturday, Oct. 3.

Loss to Hawks

Leafs Earn Split

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs had their pre-season record evened here Sunday night when Chicago Black Hawks handed them a 6-3 defeat in the second of the 58 pre-season games scheduled by the six NHL clubs.

Fouts Fined

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Lions have fined defensive end Dick Fouts $50.

In announcing the fine, coach Dave Skrien said only that the fine was for "personal conduct detrimental to the football team."

Fouts had been charged with driving while impaired after police in Vancouver stopped his car on Saturday. He is scheduled to appear in Vancouver police court Thursday.

From Speedway

Fund Gets $1,500

A Formula Junior owned by Eric Faulks of Vancouver stole all the glory at the Victoria Motor Sports Club Olympic Fund race day at Western Speedway Sunday collecting a track record and winning the main event.

Bob Trickett fought off pressing Dave Cooper for 11 laps before bringing his Triumph home in first place finish in the A-F event. Cooper made better his next attempt winning the fast heat event pushing his TVR to first place with Don Lamont's Datsun trailing.

Welcome Sight for Hockey Fans

Don't ask where the summer has gone, the above makes it obvious that it is just about to leave. It happened yesterday at Memorial Arena, where advance guard of Victoria Maple Leafs checked in to get ready for first workout today. Defencemen Fred Hucul steps on scales in top photo, and judging from appearance and pleased looks of rookie

Philly Drought About at End Yankees May Again Be Rivals

If Philadelphia Phillies win just nine of their remaining 18 games, they can be almost certain of playing in their first World Series since 1950. But their American League opponents are far from being decided.

Although Baltimore Orioles pushed their lead to one and a half games with a 4-3 win over Minnesota last night, the New York Yankees are hot. Sunday, the New York club won its eighth game in its last 11 starts with a 5-2 victory over Minnesota.

The Phillies stretched their National League lead to six and a half games over St. Louis Cardinals last night by bouncing Houston, 4-1.

If the Phils play .500 baseball through their remaining games, St. Louis will be forced to win 16 of its last 19 contests to gain a tie. The Cardinals were rained out in Milwaukee last night.

Should the Yankees provide the opposition in the world series, the Philadelphia club would be out for a little revenge. The Yanks, who have won the American League championship for the last four seasons, dumped the Phils in four straight games in 1950. While the Yankees are currently at their best, the Orioles needed some Minnesota help last night to square their recent record at six wins in 12 games.

Going into the bottom of the ninth inning the teams were tied, 1-1, in Baltimore. But with men on first and second base and one out, Minnesota second baseman John Goryl bobbled a routine ground ball hit by Charlie Lau to load the bases.

Then Luis Aparicio lofted a long sacrifice fly to score pinch-runner Bob Saverine and give reliever Ken Rowe, called up from Spokane one yesterday, his first victory of the season.

NEWCOMER HELPS

Sunday, the Yankees got some fine relief pitching from newly-acquired Pedro Ramos, who came in for Whitey Ford in the fourth inning. Ramos, purchased from the Cleveland Indians, allowed only two hits and one run while Joe Pepitone drove in three runs last night, his 26th home run and a single.

Left-hander Chris Short and Johnny Callison carried the load for Philadelphia in its victory over Houston last night. Short pitched a four-hitter for his 15th win of the season and Callison belted a two-run homer.

GIANTS DEAD

The Phillies all but ended San Francisco's pennant hopes Sunday by dumping the Giants, 4-1, in 10 innings.

The clubs were tied, 1-1, after nine innings, but Callison singled in Tony Taylor with nobody out and rookie sensation Richie Allen followed with his 26th homer to give Jim Bunning his 17th victory of the season.

Speaking Briefly

Stengel for Alston?

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Alston, who only a year ago was hailed as a managerial genius in the Dodgers' astonishing four-game World Series sweep over New York Yankees, is reported through in Los Angeles and headed for Cincinnati.

This information comes from two separate and unrelated sources, who further insist that the Dodgers would like to hire Casey Stengel of New York Mets as manager for the 1965 season only.

PROBLEM

Incredible as these managerial manipulations may appear, a high Dodger official acknowledged there had been some preliminary discussions along those lines but added: "How does one go about telling a man you want him for just one year?"

The Dodgers, greatly agitated by the team's poor showing on the field, are fearful it will reflect on their advance sale of tickets for next year and believe Stengel is just the man to give a hypo to the gate.

The 74-year-old Stengel is completing his third straight cellar finish with the Mets after having led the Yankees to 10 pennants in 12 years.

An all-star team from the Western International Hockey League will play the touring Russian team in B.C., it was decided Sunday at a meeting of the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association in Vancouver.

First choice for site of the game was Trail with Victoria and Vancouver being ranked second and third. A decision will be made later.

Victory for Emerson completed a rare triple slam. He had previously won the Wimbledon and Australian titles.

Paul Hornung, returning to action after sitting it out last season on suspension, kicked three field goals and ran for 77 yards as Packers took a 23-12 win over the defending champion Chicago Bears. And the Vikings proved their 5-0 pre-season record was no fluke by upsetting Baltimore Colts, 34-24.

Los Angeles Rams, taking advantage of opposition errors, also came up with a bit of an upset by taking Pittsburgh Steelers, 26-14.

In other games, Detroit Lions beat San Francisco 49ers, 26-17, and Cleveland Browns turned back Washington Redskins, 27-13. On Saturday, St. Louis Cardinals opened the season with a 16-6 win over Dallas Cowboys.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The B.C. Curling Association and the Pacific Coast Curling Association have buried the hatchet.

Officers of the two bodies, meeting here during the weekend, decided on a course of "full, amicable liaison" between the two bodies.

Vancouver Beaten By Brooklyn, 10-8

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—Paced by the stellar goaltending of Pat Baker, Brooklyn Merchants won the opening game of the Canadian senior lacrosse championships for the Mann Cup, defeating Vancouver Carlings 10-8 here Monday night before 1,300 fans.

Baker faced a 35-shot Vancouver barrage but repeatedly robbed the Western attackers.

In the first five minutes of the game Baker stopped four sure goals, holding the fort until his mates found their running legs.

"Baker is the best goalie in Canada," Brooklyn coach Ken Crawford said after the game. "He is responsible for us being this far and he'll take us to the Mann Cup," he added.

Two additions to the Brooklyn lineup, Bob Allan of Peterborough and Ron Roy of St. Catharines, paced Brooklyn with three goals each.

Grant Heffernan added two goals and two assists to the Brooklyn total, with Jack Macgett and John Ferguson scoring one each.

Sid Warlick, and Fred Usselman each had two goals for Vancouver, with one apiece going to Gord Gimple, Gary Stevens, Bob Babcock and Bill Chisholm.

"We decided to pick up speed rather than muscle in our player additions, and it paid off," Crawford said. "We needed runs, and then moved ahead to stay.

The next game in the series will be played here Wednesday. Ken Thompson topped Ottawa goal-scorers with four. Don Sison picked up three on only three shots. Gaylord Powless added two, and singles came from Jim Hinkson, Jim Higgs and Bill Armour.

Ranjit Dikron, a speedy addition from Victoria Shamrocks, who lost to Ottawa in the final last year, led the losers with three goals and three assists.

Larry Henry also scored three times for New Westminster with Ken Henry and Mac Tyler each getting two goals and Ian Bull, Bob McKean and Bob Parrent one each.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Oshawa Green Gables played brilliant sniping and play-making by John Davis Monday night to defeat New Westminster Salmonbellies 13-13 in the opening game of the best-of-seven Minto Cup series for the Canadian junior lacrosse championship.

Davis, a flashy forward who scored 184 points in 24 league games with the Ontario team this year, paced the defending champions with three goals and four assists.

Oshawa spotted New Westminster a quick 2-0 lead but bounced back to tie the score 3-3 by the end of the first quarter, and then moved ahead to stay.

Jungle Jim Expands Hunt for New Wings

MONTREAL (UPI)—Discouraged, distraught and obviously worried, Coach Jim Trimble yesterday continued to clean out his Montreal Alouettes nest in the wake of his club's third successive defeat, against Edmonton Eskimos last Friday.

Jungle Jim asked waivers on two more of his highly-rated stars, fullback Dave Hopmann and end Mary Luster. Hopmann was cut immediately and replaced on the roster by Nat Craddock, recalled from the Portland Seabawks of the Atlantic Coast Football Conference.

Luster was placed on waivers with the right of recall.

"We'll wait and see what happens. Maybe we can make a deal for him somewhere," Trimble said.

Departure of Hopmann and Luster adds to the growing list of talent Trimble has disposed of since he left Hamilton Tiger-

Cats to take over the Larks before the start of last season. The Montreal club at that time was considered by many to have the best talent in the Canadian Football League.

Must of what was considered the best has already gone. Three of the best, tackles Milt Crain and Bobby Jack Oliver and linebacker Ed Nickla were let go earlier this season. Crain and Nickla were all-stars last season and Oliver the previous season.

Also among the missing this season were halfbacks Don Clark and Bobby Lee Thompson. Clark, who is being wooed again, was the 1961 rushing leader in the Eastern Conference. Trimble failed to sign Thompson to a contract and lost the speedster to the National Football League.

Trimble has been trying to pick up late NFL cuts to fill the voids but admitted yesterday he had lost out on quarterback Dale Hackbart (Washington), tackle George Bednar (St. Louis) and end Homer Jones (New York).

It was bad enough before Sunday but things got a bit more desperate then when Toronto Argos got into a third-place struggle by defeating Edmonton.

Argos, who were never behind, got some help in ending their losing streak at four games. They scored three touchdowns after punts of 16, 25 and eight yards by Marcel Delene.

John Anabo, playing only his second CFL game, completed 15 of 24 passes for 175 yards but Ekkins had a ground attack which netted only 50 yards.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator). Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

Title Rematch Just an Exhibition?

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP)—Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay and challenger Sonny Liston flanked Governor Endicott Peabody of Massachusetts Monday when he announced the formal signing for their title rematch Nov. 16 at Boston Garden.

After Peabody's statement, chairman Herman Greenberg of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission outlined stipulations for the 15-round bout.

MUST FIGHT BOND

Chief among them is that the winner must post a $50,000 bond guaranteeing he'll meet one of the top four rated contenders as listed by the World Boxing Association within six months after the bout.

Greenberg said he had been in touch with WBA officials, assuring them the commission's decision to approve the fight was not a breach with the organization or a defiance of its opposition to the bout.

The WBA had threatened to strip Clay of his crown if the rematch was signed.

The contract stipulates that neither boxer has any connection with the promotion and that the promoters have no secret contracts or agreements beyond that with the state commission.

EXPECT $5,000,000
Sam Silverman, partial promoter with Inter-Continental Promotions, Inc., optimistically foresees a $5,000,000 harvest, including all ancillary rights.

Silverman predicts a $450,000 gate. The rest will come from radio, closed circuit television and foreign rights, which includes movies.

Although it was not announced it was understood Clay and Liston will get 50 per cent each from the total.

Before the session ended each accused his rival of using a foreign substance on his gloves in their earlier meeting.

CASSIUS SPEAKS UP
"How do I feel about him as a prizefighter?" Liston said in repeating a question. "He ought to be arrested for impersonating one."

Clay was more subdued in his comments and actions than he has been at similar events in the past. He indicated the change is a reflection of his new religious faith as a Black Muslim.

"If I get beat once I'll quit," Clay said. "It would be a long road back to the title."

"I figure that I'll win and it'll be by a knockout," Liston said.

In Toronto, Mary McKenzie, chairman of the WBA said authorization of the Clay-Liston return bout by the Massachusetts Boxing Commission means the commission will be suspended by the WBA. He said the WBA considers this bout as a non-title match.

"All promoters, boxers, seconds, trainers, managers, ring officials and any persons having anything to do with this bout will have their licenses suspended in a 11 WBA territory," McKenzie said. These suspensions become automatic when the fight papers are signed.

McKenzie said the commission is defying the WBA in approving the bout and the commission's action is unacceptable to the WBA.

"We can't accept anything but our own resolutions," McKenzie said in reference to the WBA's denunciation of a Clay-Liston return by a 27-0-2 vote last month at its convention in Norfolk, Va. "There are no ifs, ands or buts about it."

Champagne Tony Plays Host Again

AKRON (UPI)—Champagne Tony Lema hit the biggest jackpot of his career Sunday and made three other champs look like they were only out playing for beer when he raked in $50,000 for winning the "world series" of golf by five strokes with a two-under-par 138 total.

The beaming, 30-year-old British Open champion no sooner copped his final putt on the 18th for a 34-34-68 clincher than he followed his traditional habit of ordering champagne for all those in a nearby press tent.

U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi, PGA Kingpin Bobby Nichols and Masters tilist Arnold Palmer didn't bother having any and it was perfectly understandable.

EAR RACK
Venturi, who fired an opening-round 69 and started the final 18 holes one stroke ahead of Lema, could manage only a 74 for a second-place 143; Nichols had a 70 for a 147 that earned him third place and the favored Palmer was last in the hand-picked field of four with a 74 and a 148 total.

Venturi's second-place finish was worth $15,000 while Nichols and Palmer each picked up $5,000.

Although Sunday's $50,000 cheque doesn't count toward Lema's official PGA earnings, it will feel real good in his pocket and give him a top-money-winning total of $122,555.37 for his six tournament triumphs so far this year.

Palmer is the PGA's official leader with $115,743.37, counting his cheque here.

Seattle Pair Wins Doubles

Top-seeded Bill Quillan and Jack Lowe of Seattle, who never lost a set throughout, Sunday won the Pacific Northwest Invitational men's doubles tennis championship by defeating Bob Puddicombe and Alan Skelton of Vancouver, 6-1, 10-8, at the Victoria Racquet Club.

Winners reached the final by defeating Reider Getz and Bill Ledingham of Vancouver while Puddicombe and Skelton bested Bill Boulac and Wally Bostick of Seattle in the other semi-final.

Ross Hughes and Jim Flynn of Portland won the flight final by defeating Ray Aldeguer and Ted Smythe of Victoria, 8-6, 6-2.

Dora Batters Crippled Ship

NEW YORK (UPI) — Towering 40-foot waves driven by the full fury of tropical storm Dora battered the crippled freighter Globe Explorer Monday. Nine men aboard worked frantically to keep the wallowing, burned-out hulk afloat.

The Coast Guard cutter Cherokee stood by, its radioed late Monday that gale force winds had increased to 60 knots and that the worst was still to come. The Cherokee had tried to tow the ship out of the danger area, but the rolling sea, whipped into a rage by the storm's approach, snapped the steel towing cable and left the freighter dead in the water 360 miles southeast of New York.

Aboard the crippled ship, and with no safe way to get off until the storm passes, were Capt. Carl Jurgensen, his first mate, chief engineer, boatswain and five coast-guardsmen. The nine-man salvage party returned Sunday after the fire that broke out Friday had burned out.

The rest of the 37-man freighter crew was returned to New London, Conn., Sunday night by a Coast Guard cutter.

An official of Maritime Overseas Transportation Inc., agents for the Globe Explorer, sent a message to Jurgensen Monday telling him not to risk his life to save the ship.

It would be impossible, however, to leave the ship under current conditions. The high waves would capsize a lifeboat in seconds. And it would be a million-in-one shot to get a life-line from the cutter aboard the freighter.

The biggest danger came from the mountainous waves cascading over the decks. If the nine men on board are able to keep the water from filling the holds it should ride out the storm, the Coast Guard said.

Exiles Take Credit For Ship Damage

MIAMI (UPI) — A Cuban exile group claimed Monday it carried out a successful sabotage operation against a Soviet ship in the northwestern Cuban port of Cabañas early this month and caused "considerable damage."

The announcement by the Mambises Commandos Organization came as the Fidel Castro regime, apparently seeking to bolster ties to the only Latin American nation maintaining diplomatic relations with Havana, kicked off a "Solidarity with Mexico Week."

The report of the sabotage against a 70-foot, Soviet "auxiliary mother ship" used for diving operations in Cuban waters was received here by telephone from Rafael Martinez Pupo, spokesman for the group in San Jose, Costa Rica.

It was announced in Miami through Cuban exile radio commentator Salvador Lew, who said Martinez reported the action was carried out "at the beginning of September." The exact date was not specified.

The target vessel was identified only as a nine-year-old Soviet vessel of the "Niray-2" class which has been operating in Cuba since 1962.

HIGH WAVES

It would be impossible, however, to leave the ship under current conditions. The high waves would capsize a lifeboat in seconds. And it would be a million-in-one shot to get a life-line from the cutter aboard the freighter.

The biggest danger came from the mountainous waves cascading over the decks. If the nine men on board are able to keep the water from filling the holds it should ride out the storm, the Coast Guard said.

Beaverbrook Symbol

Empire Crusader Quietly Unchained

LONDON (CP) — Three months after Lord Beaverbrook's death, the chains have fallen from his little red crusader, just as silently as they were entwined about him 13 years ago.

The crusader, spear and shield advanced in challenge, was created as Beaverbrook's symbol of empire and appears at the top of the front page of The Daily Express. He has been there since 1931.

On Oct. 15, 1951, the little warrior appeared in chains and there wasn't a word of explanation at the time.

Three weeks later, The Express, the Canadian-born Beaverbrook's mass-circulation newspaper, said the chains would remain until a Tory government announced an empire policy.

And there they stayed—until Monday, when The Express printed the crusader once more free of chains although presumably still in pursuit of his holy grail.

Beaverbrook died June 9 at the age of 85. Perhaps the biggest disappointment of the vastly successful publisher was the failure of his long-sustained empire campaign.

Express officials left word with their secretaries to answer "no comment" to queries about the crusader and his chains.

Young Artists Fall Short

On looking over the exhibition of drawings and paintings done in the children's classes at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, I was on the whole disappointed. It seemed to me that the imagery of the child had not received sufficient encouragement—too much attention had been given to tricks of technique which could have been deferred until the strongly creative spirit had been given freer rein.

Teaching young children is not a simple matter. Child art is a spontaneous expression of thought and experience, the inner world of the child is projected into his drawings and paintings, he is concerned with telling us what he knows and feels about—what he is drawing. It is the idea that he is striving to express in bold line and untrammelled color, not the faithful representation of things. Awkwardness of drawing is to be expected and does not in any way detract from the ultimate result.

The imaginative child goes right ahead and produces pictures at an amazing rate while the more matter-of-fact child will build up his pictures from his environment and out of what he has observed.

It has been said that up to the age of 12 every child is an artist and it is certainly the case that children as young as four sometimes draw and paint with an authority that the adult artist might envy.

In the four to six-year-old group I was delighted with a water color and crayon drawing My Mother and a Whale, but I could not find any signature on it.

Rain and a Rainbow was a wonderful attempt at dealing with an impossibly difficult subject by not noticing that it was difficult and just going ahead with paint until some idea formed.

The absence of names makes it difficult to pick out what

Philadelphia Riots Costly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) Mayor James H. J. Tate said Monday the North Philadelphia rioting the weekend of Aug. 28 will cost the city $4,195,000. Biggest item is $2,500,000 to satisfy claims of shopkeepers and others whose property was looted and damaged during the riots involving mainly Negroes. He said the city law department already is "in contact" with persons making 400 claims.

Baby Retarded

Beating Injures Brain

WINNIPEG (CP)—A 14-month-old girl suffered brain damage which has left her mentally retarded in a beating by a foster mother, a Crown prosecutor told provincial police court Monday.

Prosecutor Lawrie Mitchell said the baby required three operations after being admitted to hospital here April 8. He said doctors felt the girl's chances of returning to a normal level of mental development were not good.

Mrs. Katherine Wall, 39, of the nearby municipality of Brooklands, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm. Magistrate G. L. Cousley suspended sentence pending a psychiatric report.

Mrs. Wall said she had taken in foster children for the St. Boniface Indian welfare department since May, 1963. She said the baby would not stop crying and "I could not stand her any longer."

She said she beat the child and banged her head on the floor.

It takes a long time to break an old habit.

60 seconds.

You know what you like in whiskeys. You've probably been living with the one kind for five, ten, maybe twenty years. All we ask is one minute. We think that's all it will take to change your mind. That, and merely one taste of a whisky called Time.

You'll find you have never known a rye like this. The taste is light, warm, smooth. A gentle whisky—but not at all kind to old habits.

It gives you a lot to think about for 60 seconds. Time enough.

$2,500,000 Plane 'Bellies In'

The four men aboard escaped injury last night when a $2,500,000 navy anti-submarine tracker plane made a successful belly landing at Patricia Bay Airport, with its landing gear useless.

The Grumman aircraft, from the VU 33 tracker squadron at Patricia Bay, circled over the airport for 90 minutes to use up fuel before the emergency landing at 10:03 p.m.

Cause of the landing gear trouble is being investigated.

Tracking gear was not damaged but damage to the propellers and underside of the aircraft was considerable during the 3,000-foot skid on the main runway.

The pilot, Lt.-Cmdr. A. A. Schellinck of Sidney, commanding officer of VU 33, said there was no panic. He said he made two previous emergency landings in fighters in eastern Canada.

JOINT EXERCISE

The Grumman was returning from a joint U.S.-Canadian naval exercise off the west coast of B.C. and the U.S.

The crew included co-pilot Lt.-Cmdr. S. C. Wood of Vancouver, PO R. W. Higgins of Wakefield, Que., and LS F. J. Muir of Esquimalt.

Lt.-Cmdr. Schellinck said there was a deadly hush in the moment before the landing. Sparks from the aircraft gave off an eerie light as the plane skidded.

FOAM USED

A crash crew used foam as soon as the plane stopped to eliminate any fire danger.

Airport manager Jack Knowland said civilian air schedules were not interfered with.

"There was no problem, no menace as far as our operations were concerned," he said.

Guanaco from Peru

Friendly Newcomer Born 'Bored'

There are eight guanacos in Canada—and two of them now live in Victoria.

Victoria's latest guanaco arrived last week after losing its mother and nearly perishing in Winnipeg's cool, climate.

The friendly little animal has the legs of a deer, the face of a camel with a bored look, its home is Peru, and this little lady was born in Winnipeg.

She was scarcely a week old and just becoming used to Winnipeg's weather when her mother died. To make things worse the temperature promptly dropped 75 degrees, and these animals can't stand the cold.

So while the little girl guanaco wobbled and bleated around her cage, zoo director Gunter Voss phoned Rudy's Zoo and the journey of a lifetime began for the camel-faced deer—to join another guanaco which has been in the zoo for the past two years.

By way of food the new arrival will be given cow's milk for the next three months, then she will go on a diet of clover and hay.

There is one part of a diet for adult guanacos zoo proprietor Rudy Bauersachs is hoping the young one won't pick up—chewing cigarettes. He doesn't want to have to tell patrons the guanaco is chewing more but enjoying it less.

But there is no fear of the youngster picking up the habit immediately, at least not until she has warmed up from the Winnipeg weather.

Lemons in Banana Belt

Though Victoria may be the banana belt for some, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schuring, 512 Vincent Avenue, are taking climate question step further in successfully growing lemons on nine-year-old tree. Tree, kept outdoors, this year produced 20 big lemons and is examined by Mrs. Schuring.—(Bud Kinsman)

Registration's Slow Shuffle Starts Today

First of 2,532 students will make their appearance at the University of Victoria's Gordon Head campus at 9 a.m. today to start their long, slow shuffle around the gymnasium as they go through the tedious process of registration.

Students will move from table to table in the building, registering, having their photographs taken for identity cards, sorting out timetables, paying fees and meeting the representatives of departments in which they will study.

MORE EXPECTED

Education has 731 students registered and arts and science 1,801, but these numbers will probably increase by Saturday when registration ends, according to registrar R. R. Jeffels.

This year's registration is about 400 higher than last year. Many students will be applying for federal government loans.

University starts Sept. 21 and for first-year students a full week of activity is planned.

Fresh week events include a publications parade, litterbug race, and sock hop Monday; an assembly and dance, Tuesday; the Fresh Queen candidates' coffee party Wednesday; club day Friday and log saw at Clover Point Saturday. Proceeds go to the United Appeal.

Tools Stolen

Tools valued at $300 were stolen from a construction site over the weekend. E. S. Cross, 3939 Shorncliffe, told Saanich police the tools were taken from a plywood tool shed at 3715 Blenkinsop where he is building a house.

Nine Seek Two Seats

Two Newcomers Vying For Votes in Saanich

Two newcomers Monday tossed their hats into the ring for the Oct. 24 byelection in Saanich, bringing to nine the number of candidates fighting for the reeve'ship and one council seat.

Lewis Adrian Haut, 820 Jasmine, a 43-year-old chauffeur at HMC Dockyard, filed his nomination papers Monday and surprised political pundits by standing for reeve.

Knowing that he will be facing three strong contenders for the post, Coun. Hugh Curtis, Ald. Millard Mooney and motel operator Ed Lum, Mr. Haut said simply: "I'm going to give it a good try."

He was the first candidate to file his nomination papers at the Saanich municipal office in Royal Oak. Deadline is noon Oct. 14.

New Plans Laid

Kinsmen's Fair Won't Be Held

By GARY OAKES

Lack of membership has forced the Victoria Kinsmen Club to cancel its annual fall fair this year, club president Harry Coote said Monday.

"It's a major job," Mr. Coote said, "and we simply don't have enough members to handle it properly."

But he believes there is a definite need for an annual fall fair in Victoria to serve the entire Island population.

And Mr. Coote suggests city council should take the lead in organizing a committee to study the feasibility of an annual fall fair.

"Representatives from service clubs and other interested city groups could make up the committee," he says.

Acting-Mayor Millard Mooney said city council could not lend financial support to a fall fair proposal but added that council would be interested in helping with the planning of a fair.

Should Request Help

"The Kinsmen Club should write council a letter requesting help and it could then be referred to a committee which would look into the possibilities," Mr. Mooney suggested.

He felt the city would be helpful in organizing a fall fair because "Victoria needs all the recreation it can get—both for residents and tourists."

Retiring chamber of commerce president E. E. Pearlman said the chamber would be "very interested in taking a look at the proposal," and also offered the chamber's assistance in planning a fair.

Mr. Coote said the fall fair subject will be brought up at the club's Thursday meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the Dominion Hotel. The club held a fair last year and in 1962 but found the job took too much time and effort for the 24-member club.

Could Make Money

"If there were enough people to handle the job properly an annual fair would easily make money," Mr. Coote explained.

He suggested an annual fall fair for the Island similar to Vancouver's Pacific National Exhibition would necessitate hiring at least two full-time directors who could co-ordinate committees from the various service clubs to handle the work.

Long-range planning is needed,

Mr. Coote said, in addition to constant promotion and encouraging people to take part in the fair either as spectators or competitors.

Goal of the fair committee should be to eventually establish permanent grounds and buildings.

The club president maintains Island businessmen, farmers and service clubs want and would support an annual fall fair.

Cash Prizes Needed

But officials of the provincial agriculture department were cool towards the fair proposal.

"We must be assured any new fair wouldn't hamper the existing recognized fairs in the area before we would provide any financial assistance," a department spokesman said.

To receive federal and provincial grants the fair would have to use all profits for the improvement of grounds and buildings and have cash prizes for competitive classes of agriculture.

The spokesman said the department would offer assistance in starting an annual fall fair for Victoria "but it would have to prove itself as an actual agricultural fair."

He felt a Victoria fair could be successful but warned there would be considerable hard work and many problems to overcome.

Cyclist Injured

A cyclist involved in a collision with a pick-up truck at Trans-Canada Highway and Wilkinson Road was in fair condition Monday night.

John Feedhouse, 15, of 38 Camden, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital complaining of pain in his arms and back.

The truck was driven by John R. Hunter, 18, of 3087 Shelbourne, police said.

Public Hearing

A public hearing at 8 p.m. today in North Saanich Secondary School, north of Sidney, will consider two rezoning bids. One would turn the 412-acre Montfort estate near John Dean Park into a housing development area, the other would allow a Capital City Yacht Club marina in Blue Heron basin.

Boundary Opposition Ignored By Saanich School Board

Saanich school board voted unanimously Monday to ignore a petition asking them to rescind a school boundary decision affecting residents of the 4900 block Cordova Bay Road.

The combatants were the board, and most of the parents of school children in the 4900 block Cordova Bay Road. The issue was whether the board did the right thing when it ordered the elementary school children of the block to attend the recently-built Lochside School instead of Cordova Bay School.

The order to attend the small, bush-encircled school was obeyed by four families.

The remaining seven families refused to comply with the order and for several reasons—listed in a petition to the board—sent their 12 children to the bigger (and for some, closer) school of 412 students at 5338 Cordova Bay Road.

PETITION
Spokesman for the protesting parents, Robert Montgomery, 4957 Cordova Bay Road, presented a 10-point petition criticizing the board's revision of the boundaries.

Both routes from the homes of the petitioners to Lochside School are too hazardous, the petition contended.

On Cordova Bay Road they must take the risk of walking on a busy, winding, hilly highway travelled by numerous gravel and concrete trucks as well as fast-moving passenger cars.

The other route includes more than half a mile of tunnel-like trail through heavy brush where, say the parents, the six-to-11-year-olds would be prey to sexual deviates.

The 26 parents who attended the meeting to back the petition were orderly and quiet. They spoke with some heat at times but tempers flared only once.

"You are calling the board stupid, Mr. Montgomery, when you say we didn't think about this before we did it," said chairman Reginald Sinkinson.

"I didn't say stupid, Mr. Chairman," answered Mr. Montgomery sharply.

All the parents at the meeting didn't support the petition.

Some just wanted assurances the children would not be moved again.

Rev. E. Lincolt officiated at the double-ring ceremony, at which the choir was in attendance.

riage by Mr. Gavin Hume. Her full-length gown of white satin was fashioned on princess lines with boat neckline and lily-point sleeves. A circlet of white flowers held her veil of net, and she carried a bouquet of red and cream roses.

Attending the bride was Mrs. Karl Bodewin, who wore an ice-blue sheath with floating back panel. Her net headdress matched her gown, and she carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Mr. Eric Lindwall was best man, and the groom's brother,

Mr. Jim Hunter, ushered guests to their places. Mr. John Sutherland proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in Harmony Hall.

As the couple left later on a wedding trip to California, the bride wore a sage green suit with brown tulle hat and snake-skin bag and shoes. Her corsage of orchids in matching tones was sent from England by her mother.

Motorcade to Launch Run

By IAN STREET
Colonist Legislative Reporter

WHITEHORSE — A motorcade from Victoria to Kelsey Bay will kick off the inaugural voyage of the northern Vancouver Island - Prince

Rupert ferry service early in 1965, Premier Bennett said Monday.

The premier, attending a 'B.C.-Yukon-Alaska conference here, said Governor William Egan of Alaska would be invited to Victoria to take part in ceremonies marking the opening of the new ferry link.

"And it wouldn't take much twisting of my arm to take the ship on from Prince Rupert to Alaska for the inaugural run," he added.

Gov. Egan, also attending the conference, said he would be happy to have the Queen of Prince Rupert visit Alaska.

Victoria Machinery Depot is building the $6,000,000 vessel and expects to complete the job late in 1965. But the inauguration of the service will probably be delayed until the spring of 1966.

Russian Course For Reading, Not Speaking

A course in scientific Russian is offered for the first time by the University of Victoria's evening division this fall, but it will be more "la computer de ma tante" than "la plume de ma tante."

Instructor Prof. Michael Dane said Monday the course will be for reading rather than speaking, will be concerned only with things scientific and would be best for such organizations as the observatory whose personnel want to keep pace with Soviet scientific progress. The class will number 15.

The 100 New Democratic Party members in Victoria will be asked at a meeting Sept. 28 to ratify sale of the two-storey party headquarters building at 721 Courtney.

The building was bought by the CCF more than a decade ago and in recent years rentals received from other groups did not balance operating costs. A $20,000 offer was refused recently.

Mabel Jones Dies In Ottawa

A former resident of Victoria and member of the staff of Government House in Ottawa, Mrs. Mabel E. Jones, died in Civic Hospital in Ottawa Sunday. She was 84.

Mrs. Jones was predeceased by her husband who died in Victoria last November following an automobile accident on Armistice Day.

Mrs. Jones left North England in 1907 to join the staff of Government House where her command of French, cooking and charity made her a popular mistress. She was a pioneer in the fields of ecumenism and bilingualism.

She is survived by Sidney C. Jones, Oliver, B.C.; Dorothy G. Jones, Ottawa; Lilian L. Jones, Dartington, Durham, England; George E. P. Jones, Victoria, six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Inn Sold

DUNCAN — The Maple Bay Inn has been sold by co-owners Jim and Colin Jacobson to Miss Mollie Hughes and Associates of Victoria. Price of the deal was not disclosed.

The new owners plan to improve parking facilities and make a number of alterations at the inn. The Jacobsons and their families will return to their former home city, Vancouver.

and a $25,000 price may be sought for investment purposes.

Stars of the Grand Old Opry Company are due in Victoria Saturday for shows at 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. at Central Junior Secondary auditorium.

The shows are being sponsored by Eagles' Lodge, Aerie No. 12, in aid of their cancer fund, cerebral palsy project and the Eagles' junior baseball fund. Headliner will be Loretta Lynn while other acts are Bill Carlisle, Hot Shot Elmer and Marshall Barnes.

A third man sought by Saanich police in connection with the beating Thursday of Nicolas Zagoric, 24, was released during the weekend after questioning. His car was held for examination. Mr. Zagoric is in good condition in hospital.

Acting on information from Saanich police, Vancouver police have arrested two men in connection with theft of $280 in travellers' cheques from a Victoria motel Sept. 10. The two will be charged with possession of stolen property.

Clady Towns, 22, of 2545 Blackwood, was released Monday on $500 bail after facing charges of theft involving two figurines valued at $230. She is to appear again in city magistrate's court Sept. 21 for election and plea.

Quebec Universities Quit Student's Union

By CHARLES LA VERTU

University of Victoria student leaders are disappointed with the decision of two Quebec universities to withdraw from the Canadian Union of Students.

In a telephone interview Victoria Alma Mater Society president Olivia Barr, attending the 28th CUS Congress at York University, Toronto, said: "We are very sorry to see this happen. However, we hope that CUS will be able to co-operate with the proposed Quebec Union of Students."

Student vice-president, Daniel O'Brien added: "It is unfortunate, especially among university

Duncan's Tower Tightened

Tightening one of two 134-foot, 15-ton transmitting towers for new Duncan radio station CKAY is Harold Glencross, 2964 Cedar Hill, one of two Victorians in a three-man crew which set up towers in two days. Other was Arthur Anderson, 2915 Cook; foreman was John Edwards of Toronto, who did similar jobs for CFAX and CKDA-FM. CKAY goes on air about Oct. 1. — (Klaus Muenster).

Khanh Makes Plea For Unity, Honor

SAIGON (AP)—Premier Nguyen Khanh, safely through an abortive weekend military rebellion against him, called on the South Vietnamese people Monday for discipline, honor and unity in the struggle ahead for a free democracy.

A standoff that developed with quick reinforcements of loyal troops in Saigon and behind-the-scenes negotiations by American military officers and diplomats kept the capital from being turned into a slaughterhouse. The coup attempt, launched Sunday, failed Monday morning without the firing of a shot.

BOLD MOVE

The United States, which regards Khanh as the man most likely to succeed in pressing the American-backed war against the communist Viet Cong guerrillas, welcomed the failure of the bold move by Maj.-Gen. Duong Van Duc to oust Khanh.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk summed up the official reaction in Washington saying: "TROUBLE OVER"

"I am pleased that the trouble is over and that the government can now get on with its main tasks."

Some of the 2,000 troops of the erstwhile rebel force were still in the city—loafing at a park and flirting with Saigon

Loan Requests Mount Among B.C. Students

More than 1,000 students from Vancouver Island and the rest of B.C. have taken advantage of the new Canada Student Loans Plan.

And an education department spokesman said hundreds of other students are still applying for the loans.

As of Saturday, 1,005 certificates of eligibility had been issued to students from throughout B.C.

UP TO $1,000

They were issued by UBC's Dean Walter Gage, chairman of the B.C. Student Aid Loan Committee.

They approve loans of up to $1,000 for students who will attend post-secondary institutions of higher learning this year.

Requests for application forms and information about the new plan are pouring in to the education department at the rate of 150 a day.

OUTSIDE STUDY

The old loan plan prevented students from studying outside the province unless their course of study was not available here.

But the new plan has dropped this restriction and students seeking loans can attend most accredited institutions.

Loans are granted by banks but are guaranteed by the federal government, giving students interest-free loans during their university careers.

MUST ENROLL

To be eligible for the federal loans students must be enrolled or intend to enroll in an educational institution designated by the committee.

Most accredited institutions are being or have been designated but more will be added in the future, including some outside Canada.

Students must be taking a course which lasts at least 26 weeks and they must attend full time.

CITIZENS ELIGIBLE

Loans are available only to Canadian citizens or those students who have lived in Canada at least one year and who will declare their intention to live here after graduation.

In addition, applicants must prove a definite need for a loan and show they have the qualifications necessary to pursue a university degree or post-graduate study.

Applications Pass 1,000 Mark

The maximum loan is $1,000 for any one year and not more than $5,000 throughout the university course.

Loans are interest-free until six months after graduation or discontinuation of studies. Then they bear 5.75 per cent interest and must be paid off in equal monthly installments over five to 10 years.

Information and application forms may be obtained from the education department or the University of Victoria and completed applications must be sent to Dean Gage at UBC.

Insecticide Test in Charlottes

Only Victims Small Birds

NANAIMO — A month-long study by Island game biologists of the effects on wildlife of a new insecticide tested in the Queen Charlotte Islands has shown a serious effect on the small bird population.

Regional game biologist Don McCaughan said phosphamidon sprayed over the forests of the Queen Charlottes July 22, "had a very serious detrimental effect on the small bird population in the spray area."

He said, however, no harmful effect of phosphamidon on mammals was measured.

The new insecticide was tested to forest industry officials in an attempt to destroy defoliating insects. An entomologist for the B.C. Loggers Association, H. A. Richmond, said phosphamidon appears "totally harmless to fish, and we have noticed no detrimental effects to birds and mammals."

WHITE MICE

After preliminary experiments with white mice in which the insecticide seemed to have no harmful effects, Mr. McCaughan set up control areas and spray areas on the parts of the Queen Charlottes where phosphamidon tests were being carried out.

In a measured period of time Mr. McCaughan said, there was a reduction in small bird population of almost 70 per cent in the spray area after the application of phosphamidon.

He said, "It appears that the reduction in the spray area began within a day after the spray was applied and continued for approximately five days."

HIGH TOXICITY

He said he felt the reduction of the bird population in the spray area "can be attributed to the high toxicity that this spray has on birds."

In a report issued from the fish and game branch, Mr. McCaughan said "The experiment with phosphamidon is a forward step in forest insect control inasmuch as it was an attempt to find a compound which is harmless to fish and wildlife as well as being an effective insecticide."

He said it was "unfortunate" phosphamidon failed as an ideal compound and urged further research into other methods of control, and continued screening of other compounds, "until a method of forest insect control is found which is compatible with the wellbeing of other forest inhabitants."

Keynote Offers Analysis

A psychiatric analysis of children, teachers, schools and society will be given Thursday in Banff by Dr. Brook Chisholm to 300 science educators gathered for a four-day conference.

Dr. Chisholm's address will be the keynote speech at the Northern and Regional International Science Education conference of the National Teachers' Association, meeting for the first time in Canada.

The conference this year is taking a critical look at new methods of teaching science. Although retired from a long life of public service in Ottawa and at the United Nations, Dr. Chisholm, whose home is at Sooke, does some teaching at the University of B.C. He is currently clinical professor of psychiatry there.

Two-Man Space Shot Delayed Until 1965

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Federal Space Agency said Monday America's first two-man space flight won't be tried this year because of lightning damage and delays caused by two hurricane threats.

An official said the Gemini space flight has been rescheduled for sometime during the first three months of 1965.

The official also said that the spacecraft for an unmanned shot, a sub-orbital flight designed to test the spacecraft's recovery systems, is due to arrive at Cape Kennedy next week — more than a month late.

The unmanned flight, a 2,100-mile shot, must be successful before the first manned flight can be made.

The one-billion-dollar Gemini program, designed to keep two men in space for up to two weeks at a time, is already more than a year behind schedule.

Services Not Sold on Integration

'Show Me That It Works'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defence Department has been able to "sell" the public on integration of the armed forces command structure more convincingly than the armed forces themselves.

This seems to be the consensus not only of service personnel but of the department itself.

This is shown in part by the fact that senior officers from headquarters here are being dispatched to commands in the field to talk to servicemen about integration and how it will affect them.

Nobody expected integration would be carried out without a hitch. Canada is the first country to try to put such a plan into effect. But, informants say, some pitfalls could have been avoided.

The most common complaint heard about implementation of the new system is that the department is treating servicemen directly affected as statistics instead of as human beings.

For instance, little or no provision has been made to find new jobs for officers and men, some of whom have spent their entire adult lives in the services, who are being let out because

Freighter Explodes
Three Die

MIAMI (UPI)—A mysterious explosion blasted and burned a Spanish freighter bound for Cuba, killing three crew members, the U.S. Coast Guard reported Monday.

The first explosion occurred on the freighter Sunday night and more blasts rocked the burning hulk of the ship Monday, the Coast Guard said.

LATE SUNDAY

Miami Coast Guard headquarters said the ship was the 1,600-ton St. Sierra Aranzazu. The first explosion occurred about 110 miles north of Guantanamo, Cuba, at 11 p.m. Sunday.

The blazing ship was sighted by a Dutch freighter, the Thulin, which radioed Miami. The Thulin sighted a raft early Monday and hauled aboard the 20 crewmen, including the three victims. The Coast Guard said it was not known if the vessel's master was among the survivors.

UNLIKELY

The ship carried a cargo of cork, textiles, toy dolls and garble. The Coast Guard said it was unlikely that the cargo would cause such an explosion. "There are several questions we simply do not have answers to—exactly what happened; why they did not have time to get off a distress signal; why so many of the crew were so badly burned; and why the ship burned so fiercely," a Coast Guard spokesman said.

Rebel Killed
In Indonesia

JAKARTA (Reuters)—Rebel Leader Andi Mattola, who held out against Indonesian government forces in southwestern Celebes for more than a four months, has been killed, the official Antara news agency reported Monday. The death of Mattola left one remaining rebel in Indonesia, Kahar Muzakkar, who also operates in the southern half of Celebes.

Rainstorm
Kills 190

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)—Authorities said Tuesday 190 persons were killed in Monday's rainstorm—the worst to hit South Korea in 30 years.

Revised casualty figures said 130 persons were missing, 213 injured and $1,625 homeless. Property damage was placed at $730,000.

Gladys Builds Threat

MIAMI (UPI)—Hurricane Gladys built up winds of 90 miles an hour off Puerto Rico Monday as its sister storms, Dora and Ethel, sped toward extinction in the North Atlantic.

The Washington weather bureau issued its final advisory on Dora at 5 p.m. EST, but the storm's devastating aftermath in North Florida and South Georgia remained to be assessed and cleaned up.

INTENSIFYING

Gladys, discovered as a tropical storm Sunday, graduated into the hurricane class at midday and continued to intensify. It was the newest addition to the 1964 hurricane season which already has produced seven storms and destruction mounting to the half-billion dollar mark. It was the fourth to become a hurricane.

However, the San Juan weather bureau predicted Gladys would bypass the Caribbean. It still was too far out to hazard predictions whether it would affect the hurricane-battered U.S. coastline.

NINE RIDE STORM

The latest advisory on Ethel centred the storm's third hurricane with 85 mph top winds about 265 miles southeast of Cape Race, Newfoundland, moving northeast at 28 mph.

Some 300 miles northeast of Norfolk, Va., the burned-out hulk of the freighter Globe Explorer rode out the stormy weather with nine men aboard. The Coast Guard cutter Cherokee, from Norfolk, reported the worst of the weather appeared yet to come. Gale winds up to 50 mph and 25- to 30-foot waves whipped the freighter.

There will be seven Liberals on the committee, five Conservatives and three from the other parties.

AGASTIN ELECTION

In a CBC radio and television interview later, Mr. Diefenbaker repeated his criticisms, adding that the maple leaf as a symbol had no place on a distinctive flag. He added that he was opposed to an election on the flag issue, but favored a plebiscite at the next election to keep down costs and avoid rousing deep and lasting passions. On constitutional change, Mr. Diefenbaker said he believes the constitution provided certain rights for both French and English, which "must be preserved" although certain changes would have to be made when there is unanimity among the provinces.

Turks Shelve Convoy
To Cyprus

ANKARA (AP)—Turkey has shelved indefinitely its plan to ship supplies to the blockaded Turkish-Cypriot enclave of Kokkina, Cyprus, under armed escort.

Premier Ismet Inonu's cabinet announced in a communiqué Monday that the convoy relief move, scheduled for today, was postponed at the request of United Nations Secretary-General U Thant.

That averted a threat of open battle between the Turks and President Archbishop Makarios' Greek-Cypriot armed forces at Kokkina, where villagers and a Turkish-Cypriot garrison have been sealed off for six weeks.

PAST THREATS

In announcing the plan last Thursday to send in supplies under guard of a destroyer and warplanes, Inonu said "any interference during the embarkment . . . will be considered an attack and answered in the same way."

The Makarios regime responded that the convoy movement would be regarded as an aggressive act and resisted.

AWAIT TALKS

The Turkish communiqué said Turkey will send food and other supplies to Kokkina as soon as Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian commander of the peace force, completes talks with the government of Cyprus on the process for handling the shipments. Thimayya was reported asking Greek-Cypriot authorities to determine where the shipments should be unloaded.

In Nicolas the Turkish chargé d'affaires, Faruk Shahinbas, said that Turkey would send a shipload of food to the port of Famagusta if the UN peace force would supervise the unloading and take it to Kokkina without delay.

APPROVES LANDING

Makarios told the UN that a ship landing at Famagusta would be given all privileges and that his government would feed the villagers of Kokkina for four or five days until a food vessel arrived from Turkey.

Turkish-Cypriot leaders told the UN that refugees and villagers in Kokkina would refuse Makarios' offer to send supplies until a relief ship arrived.

Pope Paul

Pope's Target:
Unity Barriers

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI assured the non-Roman Catholic Christian world Monday that it is his purpose to clear away every obstacle blocking Christian unity. He called upon his own bishops to spell out for him their share in the church's supreme authority, a move that could ease the task of unity.

Opening the third and perhaps decisive session of the Vatican ecumenical council, the Roman Catholic pontiff made a point of speaking directly to non-Roman Catholic observers present.

'PURPOSE, HOPE'

"We wish to assure you once more of our purpose and hope to be able one day to remove every obstacle, every misunderstanding, every hesitancy that still prevents us from feeling fully 'of one heart and one soul' in Christ. In His church . . ."

"For our part, we shall do all that the possibilities allow to this end."

SET TONE

The Pope's allocution set the tone for the meeting of 2,500 Roman Catholic prelates from around the world.

Christian unity and the sharing of the church government with the bishops appeared interlocking. Non-Roman Catholic Christians balk at the supreme authority placed in the Pope.

ADVOBORY GROUP?

The upshot of the deliberations of the prelates may be some kind of group to advise the Pope. Speaking to his bishops, the Pope said:

"The hour has sounded in history when the church . . . must say of herself what Christ intended and willed her to be, and what the age-long mediation of the fathers, pontiffs and doctors in their wisdom has explored with piety. The church must give a definition of herself."

ALEXANDRIA (UPI)—The United Arab Republic and Saudi Arabia announced Monday night they have agreed on full co-operation to end the long civil war in the Yemen.

The trouble began in September, 1962, when troops overthrew the Imam of Yemen. The U.A.R. sent troops and supplies to help nationalists, Saudi Arabia aided the royalists of the Imam El Badr.

'Don't Retaliate'
—Indonesia

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Indonesia warned Monday that any British retaliation for its "crush Malaysia" policy would bring a swift counter-attack.

Indonesian deputy foreign minister Subjarwo Tjondronegoro, addressing the United Nations Security Council in reply to Malaysia's charge of aggression by Indonesia, recalled recent news dispatches from London indicating that Britain may resort to armed retaliation against Indonesia.

"Let me say this," Subjarwo said. "If Britain chooses to launch an open attack on any part of Indonesian territory, Indonesia will retaliate with a counterblow forthwith."

The Indonesian delegate launched a spirited attack on Britain, and to some extent the Vast Northland

'Join Us'
Bennett Suggests

By IAN STREET

Colonist Legislative Reporter

WHITEHORSE — Premier Bennett Monday proposed a crash program for paving the Alaska Highway by 1967 and said that if the Yukon and Northwest Territories wanted to join B.C. his province was prepared to spend $300,000,000 on northern highway development.

Mr. Bennett told the opening session of the three-day B.C.-Alaska-Yukon conference that he would not suggest the two northern territories join B.C., but made his offer "if it was done of their own accord."

STRONGER

The premier earlier took a stronger line with reporters who travelled north on the same plane as the B.C. delegation. "The Yukon and Northwest Territories must speak up quickly," said Mr. Bennett. "Either they are in step with B.C. or they are in step with Ottawa, which means 50 years behind the times."

LARGEST

Union with the vast northern territories, which are administered by the federal government, would increase B.C.'s 365,000 square miles to almost 1,700,000 square miles, making it easily Canada's largest province. Only 36,000 people now live in the territories.

Mr. Bennett told reporters it was up to the people of the territories to make their wishes known on the question of union. He charged that Ottawa's "remote-control" administration had held back northern development.

'SERIOUS NOTE'

In his opening address to the conference, the premier said his remarks were "of very serious note."

"Time is of the essence," said Mr. Bennett. "We must realize that either we go forward or lag still further behind. B.C. is here because we hope great good will come from this conference."

CENTURY

He said in 1917 it will be 100 years since the U.S. acquired Alaska, tying it with Canada's 100th birthday.

He told delegates the time for leisurely planning and surveys was past. The wartime effort that resulted in building the 1,500-mile Alaska Highway had never been revived in the more than two decades that followed.

'MUST BE BOLD'

"We must be as bold in time of peace as we are in time of war," Mr. Bennett said.

"What we need, forthwith, is a summit conference between the prime minister of Canada and the president of the U.S. to discuss the development of our great northland."

BEST FOLLOWS

"Build this one great highway and I think all other development will follow," said the premier.

"Out of the tens and tens of thousands of tourists who will use this new paved road to the north will come the men that will build the businesses, cut the forests, mine the minerals and develop the great potential for hydro-electric power."

SHARE COSTS

Earlier Mr. Bennett told reporters his government hoped the federal government and the U.S. would share in the cost of reconstructing and paving the Alaska Highway.

For the Canadian section—1,200 miles from Dawson Creek to the Alaska border—cost of

'Less Regulation'
For Railways

OTTAWA (CP)—The government Monday introduced legislation to implement certain sections of the royal commission report on transportation, including "radical new methods of freight rate regulations."

Transport Minister Pickersgill didn't go into details on this or other aspects of the legislation. But he said the new method will result in "a great deal less regulation."

COMPETE

Basically, he said, the legislation is to allow the railways freedom to compete, "but with due regard to the national interest."

It will relieve railways of the burden of some uneconomic services and monies granted to maintain uneconomic services will be clearly defined, so such services cannot be blamed for failure to operate economically in other spheres.

A branch lines rationalization agency would be established with funds to maintain uneconomic lines. This would allow these lines to keep operating without being a burden on the economic operations of the railways.

Mr. Pickersgill said that "in the main" the recommendations of the commission "have commended themselves to the government." Some would require further study before coming before Parliament.

Turbines from Turbulence

Ceremony Ends Columbia Storms

VANCOUVER (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson and President Johnson met Wednesday to put the finishing touch on a Canada-United States treaty born after 20 years of turbulent and protracted negotiations.

The historical meeting at the Peace Arch, an international park near Blaine, Wash., 20 miles southeast of here, is a formality marking the start of the giant Columbia River hydroelectric project.

The Columbia River Treaty and Protocol, a 156-page document published in book form, was effectively signed, sealed and delivered months ago.

Wednesday's treaty ceremony will follow closely a similar one three years ago involving another Canadian prime minister and another American president at the multi-million-dollar

Then, amidst much fanfare, Prime Minister Diefenbaker and President Eisenhower formally signed what at that time constituted the Columbia River Treaty.

It never got off the ground.

A Canadian wrangle, coming on the heels of years of tough Ottawa-Washington bargaining, put an end to visions of a quick start on the multi-million-dollar scheme that rivals the St. Lawrence Seaway project in scope. An open breach developed between Ottawa and Victoria, with Mr. Diefenbaker and Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia the major protagonists.

Motorcade to Launch Run

By IAN STREET
Colonist Legislative Reporter

WHITEHORSE — A motorcade from Victoria to Kelsey Bay will kick off the inaugural voyage of the northern Vancouver Island - Prince

Rupert ferry service early in 1965, Premier Bennett said Monday.

The premier, attending a B.C.-Yukon-Alaska conference here, said Governor William Egan of Alaska would be invited to Victoria to take part in ceremonies marking the opening of the new ferry link.

"And it wouldn't take much twisting of my arm to take the ship on from Prince Rupert to Alaska for the inaugural run," he added.

Gov. Egan, also attending the conference, said he would be happy to have the Queen of Prince Rupert visit Alaska.

Victoria Machinery Depot is building the $6,000,000 vessel and expects to complete the job late in 1965. But the inauguration of the service will probably be delayed until the spring of 1966.

$2,500,000 Plane 'Bellies In'

The four men aboard escaped injury last night when a $2,500,000 navy anti-submarine tracker plane made a successful belly landing at Patricia Bay Airport, with its landing gear useless.

The Grumman aircraft, from the VU 33 tracker squadron at Patricia Bay, circled over the airport for 90 minutes to use up fuel before the emergency landing at 10:03 p.m.

Cause of the landing gear trouble is being investigated.

LONG SKID

Tracking gear was not damaged but damage to the propellers and underside of the aircraft was considerable during the 3,000-foot skid on the main runway.

The pilot, Lt.-Cmdr. A. A. Schellink of Sidney, commanding officer of VU 33, said there was no panic. He said he made two previous emergency landings in fighters in eastern Canada.

JOINT EXERCISE

The Grumman was returning from a joint U.S.-Canadian naval exercise off the west coast of B.C. and the U.S.

The crew included co-pilot Lt.-Cmdr. S. C. Wood of Vancouver, FO R. W. Higgins of Wakefield, Que., and LS F. J. Muir of Esquimalt.

Lt.-Cmdr. Schellink said there was a deadly hush in the moment before the landing. Sparks from the aircraft gave off an eerie light as the plane skidded.

FOAM USED

A crash crew used foam as soon as the plane stopped to eliminate any fire danger.

Airport manager Jack Knowland said civilian air schedules were not interfered with.

"There was no problem, no menace as far as our operations were concerned," he said.

Youth's Body Found

PORT ALBERNI — The body of a 19-year-old Nanaimo district youth who disappeared more than two months ago was found Sunday at the foot of a 100-foot embankment beside the Alberni mountain highway.

RCMP in Nanaimo last night identified the youth as Brian Lloyd Theln of Maxey Road in Wellington.

BODY AND CAR

The body and a wrecked car were found Sunday by two unidentified young brothers, residents of the Alberni Valley, who were out for a walk in the woods.

Police said the car crashed over a guard rail and cut a 75-foot swath through woods and bushes before plunging over the embankment.

No More Ugly Stump

Neighbor Mrs. Julie Foster thinks retired architect E. E. Maxwell of Mill Bay, who helped design 21 hospitals for Alberta public health department, has succeeded in attempt to "dress up" ugly stump on his fence line along Mill Bay Road. Mr. Maxwell said he "satisfied creative urge" by turning it into totem pole with top hat. (Agnes Flett)

Search Continues For Tofino Driver

TOFINO — The search for truck driver Robert Cullin Richardson, 38, who vanished when his giant ore truck plunged mysteriously into Maggie Lake near here will continue for a few days, RCMP said Monday. The statement came after the truck was taken out of the lake Sunday, damaged almost beyond recognition.

The vehicle, fully loaded with 80 tons of iron ore, had landed in 120 feet of water about 150 feet from shore early last week when it disappeared from the middle of a widely-separated, three-truck convoy travelling from the nearby Brynmar Iron mines to their port at Toquart Bay. There was no sign of Mr. Richardson, a White Rock resident, around the truck.

Port Alberni Adds Chlorine

PORT ALBERNI — Chlorination of the city's water supply, recommended by district medical health officer Dr. Gerald Bonham, went into effect Sept. 1, it was announced at Monday night's city council meeting.

A report from Dr. Bonham gave three reasons for the move:

● Chlorination is "recommended practice regardless of the purity of the water source."

● Confidence in the present system of watershed control is "unwarranted."

Water Tests Provide Spur

● "Some unsatisfactory water test results have been reported in the past six years," Dr. Bonham said Port Alberni and Kimberley are the "only significant communities" in B.C. without chlorination, and Kimberley is considering it.

He said logging operations and unauthorized people in the watershed area have caused problems. Council decided to hire a watchman for the watershed for the duration of the hunting season, and prohibit anyone from entering the watershed without a valid health permit.

Dr. Bonham said test results in the past six years included nine positive samples in 1958, one in 1961 and five in 1963. A positive sample was defined as a water test result showing more than the approved level of pollution.

The medical health officer said the federal government rates Port Alberni water as provisional. Chlorination was needed to obtain an approved rating, especially because city water is supplied to visiting deepsea vessels.

Alberni water has been chlorinated since 1948.

Council accepted a tender of $9,298 from Raynor and Bracht of Port Alberni, the only bid received, for repairs to a culvert and relocation of Franklin River Road at the scene of a washout last year.

BISHOP SPEAKS

All aldermen were invited to attend today's Chamber of Commerce meeting at which Mayor Fred Bishop of Alberni will speak on the proposed amalgamation of the Twin Cities.

Mayor Les Hammer, whose name was given to the local Wrenette corps when it was formed in recent years, commended the cadet services in this area and mentioned army, sea and Wrenette cadet corps now are recruiting. Age limits are 14 to 18.

Crashes Hurt Alberni Men

ALBERNI — Two young men were taken to hospital after separate weekend accidents.

Douglas Robinson, 20, was reported in satisfactory condition with abdominal injuries suffered when his motorcycle hit a cement post at the north end of Rogers Creek bridge. James Robertson, 23, received a broken jaw when his car went over a guardrail at the Rogers Creek fill and down a 20-foot embankment.

Nanaimo Rule Questioned

Realtor Demands Board of Appeal

By LYNNE WALLER

NANAIMO — City council should "protect every citizen in this community" by creating a five-man board to judge appeals from city decisions, Dr. Mladen Zorkin told council during a stormy exchange last night.

Head of a local real estate firm and Canadian president of the International Real Estate Federation, Dr. Zorkin charged a number of city decisions had denied his "basic right" to appeal.

At issue is his application to council last Jan. 29 to re-stucco the four sides of his building at 420 Fitzwilliam.

TWO SIDES

Dr. Zorkin said he was notified Jan 30 he could have the work done only on two sides. He learned later that work on the other two sides was disallowed because of a city regulation barring such work on sides not fronting or facing main streets.

The real estate official said he tried Feb. 12 to appear before an appeal board but was advised to appear before city council in a closed meeting. He applied to do so March 4 and was heard March 10.

NEW HEARING

However, his lawyer was not present March 10 and Dr. Zorkin indicated he expected a further hearing. Soon after, he was told his application had been denied by council.

Dr. Zorkin, who was overseas this summer attending a real estate convention in Israel, said last night council is not qualified to hear an appeal from a decision of one of its employees.

NONSENSE

"You bring the law, you make the law, you interpret the law, then you listen to the appeal," he said. "This is nonsense."

Council passed a motion by Ald. Douglas Greer that the issue go back to council for consideration at another closed meeting.

NOT STUPID

"There may be an honest difference of opinion," he said. "But this doesn't mean we're stupid or ignorant or incompetent or dictators."

Dr. Zorkin's lawyer, E. D. Strongthorn, said during the discussion he was told by city employees at one point that no copy of the 1957 building code, on which the two-side decision was based, was available to the public.

"It's a peculiar situation," he said.

Costs Slashed

Nanaimo Drive Opening Today

NANAIMO — The 1964 Nanaimo and District United Appeal campaign will be opened officially at 11 a.m. today by Mayor Pete Maffeo and Dr. M. G. Zorkin in a ceremony on the city hall steps.

Dr. Zorkin, president of the Appeal organization, announced Monday administration costs for the campaign have been slashed this year even though the target is higher than what was collected a year ago.

BIGGER TARGET

The target is $59,332, of which $52,852 will go to member agencies, or about 89 per cent. The target is about $5,000 more than the total collected last year.

Payroll deductions began Sept. 1 and a two-day residential blitz is planned Oct. 26 and 27.

The campaign ends Oct. 31. If the Appeal is on target, here is what the agencies will receive:

CNIB $4,000, Cerebral Palsy $1,000, VON $2,750, John Howard Society $3,500, Boy Scouts $2,000, St. John Ambulance $2,200, Red Cross $9,500, Air Cadets $700, Borial Association $375, CARS $6,500, retarded children's association $7,042, SPCA $2,500, mental health $3,960, children's hospital $1,000, multiple sclerosis $565, Kinsmen polo $5,000 and Unitarians $180.

Courtenay Unlikely To Elect Mayor Before December

COURTENAY — A vote to choose a successor to Mayor William Moore probably will be delayed until the annual civic elections in December, it was learned Monday.

Civic officials announced last week that the mayor has been appointed city clerk-administrator effective Oct. 1, to succeed clerk Charles Gooding. Mr. Gooding left more than a month ago to become clerk at Gibson's Landing.

Reliable sources said a mid-November byelection would be needed if the mayor's resignation was accepted by council at its first regular October meeting, Oct. 5.

The mayor, who has been doing the clerk's job since Mr. Gooding left, is expected to date his resignation on or before Oct. 1.

However, council probably will not accept it for a meeting or two, thereby avoiding the expense of a byelection.

The sources said provincial officials had indicated the mayor could continue doing the clerk's work on the present basis for enough time to permit this procedure.

Asked about reports he would sell his Glacier Cafe on Fifth Street before becoming clerk-administrator, Mr. Moore said the cafe had no bearing on the new job.

The cafe had been up for sale for four months. If no buyer appeared this month, he would keep the cafe and hire a manager.

Company Offers Shares In Land Development

NANAIMO — Frank Ney, a leading land developer and realtor, announced Monday a public offering in what he called the first land investment company of its kind on Vancouver Island.

Mr. Ney, who with his brother William co-manages Nanaimo Realty, is president of Great National Land and Investment Corp., which is making the public offering of $500,000 worth of 6 1/2 per cent convertible debentures.

CHOICE

He said the public will be able to buy either coupon debentures in $500 or $1,000 debentures, or registered debentures in multiples of $100. Offering the issue is Odium, Brown Investments Ltd.

"We will be in land development, buying and selling of mortgages, financing of house construction, owning and developing revenue properties, and general real estate development," said Mr. Ney.

Nanaimo Firm Expands

"Initially, however, our main activities will be in the mortgage field."

CONVERTIBLE

Debentures probably will be available for delivery in Nanaimo, Victoria and Vancouver about Oct. 1.

Each debenture is convertible into class A shares of the company beginning three years after the Oct. 1 issuance date. Debenture holders have seven remaining years to exercise various share purchase options, the last option expiring in 1974.

Mr. Ney said the company's main purpose was to "let the average investor participate in the proven-profitable real estate industry, an area that until now has been almost exclusively reserved for the large investor."

Great National was incorporated as a private company in May, 1963, and became a public company last April. In this first year, the firm and its wholly-owned companies acquired mortgages and agreements for sale with a gross value of $763,000 while acquisition cost was $638,000.

FINANCIAL CENTRE

Pointing out Nanaimo is already the north Island's distribution centre, Mr. Ney said it could become the financial centre as well.

Head offices are here, most activities are centred on the Island but operations may later extend to the mainland.

To date, Great National has 288 local shareholders.

Small Birds in Charlottes Insecticide Test Victims

NANAIMO — A month-long study by Island game biologists of the effects on wildlife of a new insecticide tested in the Queen Charlotte Islands has shown a serious effect on the small bird population.

Regional game biologist Don McCaughan said phosphamidon sprayed over the forests of the Queen Charlottes July 22, "had a very serious detrimental effect on the small bird population in the spray area."

He said, however, no harmful effect of phosphamidon on mammals was measured.

The new insecticide was tested to forest industry officials in an attempt to destroy defoliating insects. An entomologist for the B.C. Loggers Association, H. A. Richmond, said phosphamidon appears "totally harmless to fish, and we have noticed no detrimental effects to birds and mammals."

WHITE MICE

After preliminary experiments with white mice in which the insecticide seemed to have no harmful effects, Mr. McCaughan set up control areas and spray areas on the parts of the Queen Charlottes where phosphamidon tests were being carried out.

In a measured period of time Mr. McCaughan said, there was a reduction in small bird population of almost 70 per cent in the spray area after the application of phosphamidon.

He said, "It appears that the reduction in the spray area began within a day after the spray was applied and continued for approximately five days."

HIGH TOXICITY

He said he felt the reduction of the bird population in the spray area "can be attributed to the high toxicity that this spray has on birds."

In a report issued from the fish and game branch, Mr. Mc-

Caughan said "The experiment with phosphamidon is a forward step in forest insect control inasmuch as it was an attempt to find a compound which is harmless to fish and wildlife as well as being an effective insecticide."

RESEARCH URGED

He said it was "unfortunate" phosphamidon failed as an ideal compound and urged further research into other methods of control, and continued screening of other compounds, "until a method of forest insect control be found which is compatible with the wellbeing of other forest inhabitants."

Services Not Sold on Integration

'Show Me That It Works'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defence Department has been able to "sell" the public on integration of the armed forces command structure more convincingly than the armed forces themselves.

This seems to be the consensus not only of service personnel but of the department itself.

This is shown in part by the fact that senior officers from headquarters here are being dispatched to commands in the field to talk to servicemen about integration and how it will affect them.

Nobody expected integration would be carried out without a hitch. Canada is the first country to try to put such a plan into effect. But, informants say, some pitfalls could have been avoided.

The most common complaint heard about implementation of the new system is that the department is treating servicemen directly affected as statistics instead of as human beings.

For instance, little or no provision has been made to find new jobs for officers and men, some of whom have spent their entire adult lives in the services, who are being let out because

Freighter Explodes Three Die

MIAMI (UPI) — A mysterious explosion blasted and burned a Spanish freighter bound for Cuba, killing three crew members, the U.S. Coast Guard reported Monday.

The first explosion occurred on the freighter Sunday night and more blasts rocked the burning hulk of the ship Monday, the Coast Guard said.

LATE SUNDAY
Miami Coast Guard headquarters said the ship was the 1,800-ton Sa. Sierra Aranzazu. The first explosion occurred about 110 miles north of Guantanamo, Cuba, at 11 p.m. Sunday.

The blazing ship was sighted by a Dutch freighter, the Thulin, which sighted the ship Monday and hauled aboard the 20 crewmen, including the three victims. The Coast Guard said it was not known if the vessel's master was among the survivors.

UNLIKELY
The ship carried a cargo of cork, textiles, toy dolls and garlic. The Coast Guard said it was unlikely that the cargo would cause such an explosion. "There are several questions we simply do not have answers to — exactly what happened; why they did not have time to get off a distress signal; why so many of the crew were so badly burned; and why the ship burned so fiercely," a Coast Guard spokesman said.

Rebel Killed In Indonesia

JAKARTA (Reuters)—Rebel Leader Andi Mattola, who held out against Indonesian government forces in southwestern Celebes for more than four months, has been killed, the official Antara news agency reported Monday. The death of Mattola left one remaining rebel in Indonesia, Kahar Muzakkar, who also operates in the southern half of Celebes.

Rainstorm Kills 190

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — Authorities said Tuesday 190 persons were killed in Monday's rainstorm — the worst to hit South Korea in 20 years.

Revised casualty figures said 230 persons were missing, 213 injured and 31,658 homeless. Property damage was placed at $750,000.

Gladys Builds Threat

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane Gladys built up winds of 90 miles an hour off Puerto Rico Monday as its sister storm, Dora and Ethel, sped toward extinction in the North Atlantic.

The Washington weather bureau issued its final advisory on Dora at 5 p.m. EST, but the storm's devastating aftermath in North Florida and South Georgia remained to be assessed and cleaned up.

INTENSIFYING
Gladys, discovered as a tropical storm Sunday, graduated into the hurricane class at midday and continued to intensify.

It was the newest addition to the 1964 hurricane season which already has produced seven storms and destruction mounting to the half-billion dollar mark. It was the fourth to become a hurricane.

However, the San Juan weather bureau predicted Gladys would bypass the Caribbean. It still was too far out to hazard predictions whether it would affect the hurricane-battered U.S. coastline.

NINE RIDE STORM

The latest advisory on Ethel centred the season's third hurricane with 85 mph top winds about 265 miles southeast of Cape Race, Newfoundland, moving northeast at 28 mph.

Some 300 miles northeast of Norfolk, Va., the burned-out hulk of the freighter Globe Explorer rode out the stormy weather with nine men aboard. The Coast Guard cutter Cherokee, from Norfolk, reported the worst of the weather appeared yet to come. Gale winds up to 50 mph and 25- to 30-foot waves whipped the freighter.

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (Reuters)—The Kashmir government arrested the editor and the publisher of the Urdu daily newspaper Marand Monday for alleged publication of prejudicial matter in the last few days. An official spokesman said they were under the Defence of India Rules, which empower the government to detain a person without trial.

Turks Shelve Convoy To Cyprus

ANKARA (AP) — Turkey has shelved indefinitely its plan to ship supplies to the blockaded Turkish-Cypriot enclave of Kokkina, Cyprus, under armed escort.

Premier Ismet Inonu's cabinet announced in a communiqué Monday that the convoy relief move, scheduled for today, was postponed at the request of United Nations Secretary-General U Thant.

That averted a threat of open battle between the Turks and President Archbishop Makarios' Greek-Cypriot armed forces at Kokkina, where villagers and a Turkish-Cypriot garrison have been sealed off for six weeks.

PAST THREATS
In announcing the plan last Thursday to send in supplies under guard of a destroyer and warplanes, Inonu said "any interference during the debarment . . . will be considered an attack and answered in the same way."

The Makarios regime responded that the convoy movement would be regarded as an aggressive act and resisted.

AWAIT TALKS

The Turkish communiqué said Turkey will send food and other supplies to Kokkina as soon as Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian commander of the peace force, completes talks with the government of Cyprus on the process for handling the shipments. Thimayya was reported asking Greek-Cypriot authorities to determine where the shipments should be unloaded.

In Nicosia the Turkish charge d'affaires, Faruk Shihabash, said that Turkey would send a shipload of food to the port of Famagusta if the UN peace force would supervise the unloading and take it to Kokkina without delay.

APPROVES LANDING

Makarios told the UN that a ship landing at Famagusta would be given all privileges and that his government would

Pope Paul

Pope's Target: Unity Barriers

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI assured the non-Roman Catholic Christian world Monday that it is his purpose to clear away every obstacle blocking Christian unity. He called upon his own bishops to spell out for him their share in the church's supreme authority, a move that could ease the task of unity.

Opening the third and perhaps decisive session of the Vatican ecumenical council, the Roman Catholic pontiff made a point of speaking directly to non-Roman Catholic observers present.

'PURPOSE, HOPE'
"We wish to assure you once more of our purpose and hope to be able one day to remove every obstacle, every misunderstanding, every hesitancy that still prevents us from feeling fully 'of one heart and one soul' in Christ, in His church . . ."

the Pope said.

"For our part, we shall do all that the possibilities allow to this end."

SET TONE

The Pope's allocution set the tone for the meeting of 2,500 Roman Catholic prelates from around the world.

Christian unity and the sharing of the church government with the bishops appeared interlocking. Non-Roman Catholic Christians balk at the supreme authority placed in the Pope.

ADVISORY GROUP?

The upshot of the deliberations of the prelates may be some kind of group to advise the Pope. Speaking to his bishops, the Pope said:

"The hour has sounded in history when the church . . . must say of herself what Christ intended and willed her to be, and what the age-long meditation of the fathers, pontiffs and doctors in their wisdom has explored with piety. The church must give a definition of herself."

'JOIN US: BENNETT'

By IAN STREET
Colonist Legislative Reporter

WHITEHORSE — Premier Bennett Monday proposed a crash program for paving the Alaska Highway by 1967 and said that if the Yukon and Northwest Territories wanted to join B.C. his province was prepared to spend $300,000,000 on northern highway development. (See also Pages 8, 31.)

Mr. Bennett told the opening session of the three-day B.C.-Alaska-Yukon conference that he would not suggest the two northern territories join B.C., but made his offer "if it was done of their own accord."

The premier earlier took a stronger line with reporters who travelled north on the same plane as the B.C. delegation.

"The Yukon and Northwest Territories must speak up quickly," said Mr. Bennett. "Either they are in step with B.C. or they are in step with Ottawa, which means 50 years behind the times."

LARGEST

Union with the vast northern territories, which are administered by the federal government, would increase B.C.'s 365,000 square miles to almost 1,700,000 square miles, making it easily Canada's largest province. Only 38,000 people now live in the territories.

Mr. Bennett told reporters it was up to the people of the territories to make their wishes known on the question of union. He charged that Ottawa's "remote-control" administration had held back northern development.

'SERIOUS NOTE'

In his opening address to the conference, the premier said his remarks were "of very serious note."

Turbines from Turbulence

Ceremony Ends Columbia Storms

By JACK MORRIS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson and President Johnson met Wednesday to put the finishing touch on a Canada-United States treaty born after 20 years of turbulent and protracted negotiations.

The historical meeting at the Peace Arch, an international park near Blaine, Wash., 20 miles southeast of here, is a formality marking the start of the giant Columbia River hydro-electric project.

The Columbia River Treaty and Protocol, a 156-page document published in book form, was effectively signed, sealed and delivered months ago.

Wednesday's treaty ceremony will follow closely a similar one three years ago involving another Canadian prime minister and another American president.

Then, amidst much fanfare, Prime Minister Diefenbaker and President Eisenhower formally signed what at that time constituted the Columbia River Treaty.

It never got off the ground.

A Canadian wrangle, coming on the heels of years of tough Ottawa-Washington bargaining, put an end to visions of a quick start on the multi-million-dollar scheme that rivals the St. Lawrence Seaway project in scope.

An open breach developed between Ottawa and Victoria, with Mr. Diefenbaker and Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia the major protagonists.

Rising in the Canadian Rockies, the Columbia, flows 1,214 miles past a series of huge U.S. dams to the Pacific Ocean near the Washington-Oregon border.
